I keep a UV-5R on hand, as long as you don't do anything stupid over the FRS/GMRS frequencies you should be fine. However, I'm trying to get my HAM License too. The BTech GMRS-V1 is an awesome option for GMRS.

The UV-5R is actually a HAM radio not a CB/Two-Way. Meaning you're going to need a amateur radio license to talk over it, but you can still receive a transmission without a license. It can be programmed to work only on FRS/GMRS bands, however, do to its power output it's technically illegal (but FRS/GMRS is rarely if ever monitored by the FCC).

I like the practice tests on QRZ.com, Free registration, no spam. Go to the resources menu and select the class of test and start. They come from the same pool of 423 questions asked on the real test. A minimum score of 26 out of 35 or 37 out of 50 is required to pass your amateur radio exam.

Baofeng hand-held UV5R will drop down to 2 watts by pressing the #key quickly. Hold the #key and this will lock and unlock the key pad. The FCC recently raised the allowable wattage of FRS up to 2-1/2 watts. However there are still some technical issues with detachable antennas and such that they say you are not supposed to be using the baofeng radios for FRS. There is no monitoring or any enforcement of those rules. You would have to be a belligerent reckless user making trouble with others to attract any attention, I try to always use low power all the time unless I need the extra range.

The Baofeng is a great starter radio. Affordable and easy to get a group started with coms. You can use FRS with low power and operate without a license. I recommend getting together with your local amateur radio club, they will help you get a ham license that will increase your communication abilities by a large step. If you ante got coms , you ante got squat!

For anyone looking to set up with a quick effective long range radio base station system with the capability of using repeaters get a GMRS License. There is no test, just an application. I've set up a few base stations and the configuration that is working well for me is the Kenwood TK-8180 (on ebay), Browning BR-450 NMO Antenna with a TRAM 1465 Ground Plane Kit (Amazon) connected with LMR-400 cable. Radio Programming would be the biggest issue. KPG-89D is what I'm using for programming. If need be contact me and I can send the software and the files for programming or even program it for you via teamviewer or chrome remote desktop. GMRS Repeaters are expanding quickly across the nation and some of them are even being linked. I wouldn't be surprised if they were linked coast to coast by the end of this year. As of right now I'm 40 miles NW of Phoenix and talking to people from Payson to Tucson. Very cool!

Quiet on the surface in Tuolumne County. However, under the surface there is organized groups in our area making inroads for the purpose of divide and conquer. There has been a push to protest conservative speakers at a local Church. Many posters placed on builtin boards around county for a protest of this event. <https://www.mymotherlode.com/news/local/1088620/downtown-sonora-protest-about-guest-speaker-at-local-church.html> try to avoid the chinese radios IF YOU CAN. I have some and with the Kenwood tk-8180 I'm hearing all kinds of chatter the chinese radio just can't pick up. Also the scan function is far superior. Due to the liquidation of taxi fleets and other fleets we're fortunate to see these mil-spec commercial radios hitting the markets and sometimes on the cheap. You can get them on ebay for 60-100 bucks! You'll probably need a power cord and a microphone, KMC-35 is fine, KMC-65 are the better. With GMRS wattage isn't everything! I've talked simplex with a guy 40 miles away on 1 watt. Antenna and location are key. Best to get the antenna over the roof peak. GMRS = higher the antenna the better.

Yup, I'm hoping one or more of the OK leadership pick up on this. It would be a good idea to have a running net or nets to get the word out should we get de-platformed again. Maybe an East, Central, and West 40m net once a week.

So power is necessary to overcome LOS due to vegetation and other obstructions. Theoretical range is all about height.

Range= ((sqrt Ant 1 height X 1.42)) + ((sqrt Ant2 height X 1.42))

Example: Repeater antenna height 175 ft
Mobile antenna height. 6ft

Basic LOS range (approx)
~3.45 + ~18.78= 22.3 miles
not counting LOS obstructions

The tech test is easy to pass. Get a hold of one of the study guides to go through. also use one of the sites like hamstudy.org for practice tests. Should be no problem to pass in 2-3 weeks of evening study. Tests are available locally in most parts of the country. Many clubs also run license classes. Then you can legally transmit on ur new rigs.

No prob. First find your local repeaters at repeaterbook.com. Then see which ones you can hear and/or transmit on (assuming you have ur license). Next go to ARRL.com and see if there are any local clubs you can visit. If you can find a good club, that's ur best resource for learning and practicing the trade.

50w is the legal limit. But in practical terms, I would think someone might fly under the radar at 100w. Hook up a 1,000w amp and someone may come knocking. Not really necessary though. Watts do not equal distance on uhf/vhf. Antenna gain and height is more important.

Not that I'm aware of... GMRS service is defined by the fcc designated GMRS frequencies and 50w power output limit. You can find many UHF/VHF radios that cover MURS, GMRS, 2m & 70cm all in one rig, and some may include 6m. Programable is considered a standard feature of amateur radio these days. All the listening station will know is your call sign and possibly if you're running illegally high power.

You dont think the electronic components inside the radios are made in china even if they are not baofeng?

As a note it has been contemplated that all the Chinese radios are compromised and can be shut down when they want. A quality american radio seems to be a good idea. However they cost a lot more. People must get trained up with something now. Everyone who can afford it should have a good back up.

Morning guys quick question as I need to outfit several guys with a portable ham radio we are working on the licensing now. Several versions have been presented however they are not said to be the best quality. Can someone recommend the best most durable portable as I understand price but need sustainability in our gear. Thank you 2m for any distance you are looking at moving to SSB which either means getting an older rig like the FT-290R and reconditioning it and adding an amp to get up to about 30W available PEP or going with some of the all band mobile rigs and setting it that way (less work but more expense). As 2m SSB can reach over 100miles properly set up and sporadic E can give it much much further (but not dependable). really depends on budget v knowledge v functional skill v resources. Everyone has to balance what they can afford versus what they actually need and how well they can care for the rig.

The radio you will need depends on your requirements. If you are looking for a 2M radio, you might want to consider a commercial radio, such as this on eBay "Motorola XTS5000 VHF 136 174MHZ AES Encryption P25 XTS 5000 Charger Radio KIT" The inexpensive Chinese radios, and even the pricey Kenwoods, are not as rugged. The Motorola XTS-5000's VHF radios are very rugged, and you can program them for P25 with Advanced Digital Privacy without needing a keyloader. If you are looking for secure communications, these would be the way to go. It all depends on what you need the radio for. If you are looking for an inter-squad radio for close in work, then you can get the same radios but in 800 MHz. for a dime a dozen on eBay. Of course, hams can not use 800 MHz, legally. But there are plenty of unused commercial channels available.

NVIS antennas, and it works well. It is a good and reliable solution for medium range (out to around 300 miles) , and never needs any infrastructure.

If you upgrade to General, you can pick up an HF rig, and put up a simple NVIS antenna, such as the EMCOMM2, and talk out several hundred miles on 40 or 80 meters. The problem with 2 meters is you are depending on a repeater to get much farther than a few miles. 2 meters is great for convoying and anything within a mile.

Is anyone working on deployable MESH Net systems for use as needed by the group? as that can plug directly into cell/smart phone app usability. which gives a limited but functional comm's to both those with permits and radios and also a voice and data link to those without that is not dependent on the commercial cellphone tower system. properly set up can handle over 65MB data stream though 45Mb is much more stable.

Lawman, Nothing wrong with the baofengs. They are rugged, cheap, and simple. Not so generous when it comes to features and display screens, but solid clear HT's. If ur organizing for a team, you may also want to look at a decent mobile 2m/70cm with cross band repeat capabilities. this would allow you to set up a local tactical net for ur team, or allow you to use it when you are away from ur vehicle or shack to make a local repeater on the HT. Just food for thought. The Alinco DR-735T VHF/UHF is a solid choice for mobile or base ops. Nothing fancy but does a good job on dual band.

For everyone wondering how to get started. I have rewritten an old post from 2014 that I believe has great potential for success. Start in your neighborhood and work outwards and network with already existing groups (III%er and all other Patriots) so that everybody communicates and operates in a similar fashion and on the same page!

Civilian Preservation Teams

Here is a simple layout for a CPT that can be established. This structure is the the basic organization of an SF "A" Team, making a few modifications to suit this purpose. First organize a "core" team in in your AO (using personnel who already have extensive training in their fields and are able to train others). This core team will then duplicate itself in the various surrounding counties. These state teams will duplicate themselves in their regions, etc. These teams will be used for outreach to, and train, local communities. Through meetings with other groups (LEO's, Veterans " active and retired, Tea Party, 9/12, VFW, 3%ers, etc.) our members will introduce them selves to the group, explain the mission of Oath Keepers and the CPT's, and offer their help to any interested communities. The idea is one of "Force Multiplication" and duplication.

CPT made up of either seven or six specialty positions

A fourteen-person team, or two seven-person teams.
Main objective is to be a "Force Multiplier"

Community Coordinator/ Organizer
This person will likely be unique to each community or neighborhood and may not deploy out of each AO. They will schedule (after consultation) team activities, maintain team rosters and training logs, and be responsible for team logistics. Must have some knowledge and skills in each specialty team position. Probably the most important person, and certainly the busiest in community outreach and PR on a local level.

A twelve-person team made of two teams of six.
Each person has a specialty and is cross trained with the ability to fill in as needed if any team member falls out. Main objective is active deployment.

Commander This will be left up to the individual teams. A commander may be elected, appointed, or a team may decide to command "by committee".

Engineers There will need to be at least two, and maybe three of these on each team. They will handle advice and training in the areas of food, water, lodging, transportation, sanitation, mechanics, and basic survival in an emergency situation. One of these specialists will also be tasked with â€œStrategic Food Reservesâ€œ, that is, making sure that the issue of long-term food supply for a community is being addressed.

Medical At least two medical specialists. These will, ideally, be people with current vocations in the medical field, such as Paramedic, ER or trauma nurse, Medical Doctor or General Practitioner, or another related field. Persons with Combat Medical experience are preferable, but not required. They should be able to teach, as well as practice.

Communications Those in this role should have a working knowledge of, or hold a current FCC license in HAM, GMRS, FRS, and CB. The focus will be not only in the ability to communicate within the immediate community, but to other communities outside the immediate area. Communication Specialists should have the knowledge to establish and maintain commo over a wide range of conditions.

Intelligence Perhaps a job for one, although a support staff will be vital. This person, within a community, will be tasked with maintaining a knowledge of current events, both locally and abroad, and advising command on how these events might affect the community as a whole. The intelligence specialist in a civilian preservation team will be responsible for training community representatives on how to gather and analyze intelligence. They will be responsible for the gathering of information vital to the security of the community such as geography and surface conditions, infrastructure, roadways, critical utilities and support systems. They are NOT â€œspiesâ€œ! They should coordinate closely with members of the Security and Protection Team.

Security and Protection These are the â€œpolicemenâ€œ of the community, and the tactical experts on the civilian preservation teams. As team members, they should, at a minimum, have extensive experience in light infantry tactics, with combat experience preferred. They will be responsible for training others in these areas, to include weapons, marksmanship, operations, and planning. All team and community members are, however, expected to have a working knowledge of these principles, and to actively participate in the security and protection of the group as a whole.

I believe this is a good templet to start with. Some Chapters and areas may want to make changes to meet their specific needs. The skills mentioned in this structure are NOT all inclusive.

IMHO, the Alinco DR-735T is a lot of radio for the $. Big display, operates like two radios in one box. Rock solid for cross band repeat function. Downside, is Alinco's version of digital FM is not widely used. For that, I would look for the mobile companion to ur HT. ie the Yaesu FTM-400XDR is a great companion to thier latest HT's.

Cross Band Repeater functionality is a must have for me in a mobile 2m/70CM radio. I have both the Yas and the Alinco, and the rig that gets the nod to go to the field is the Alinco.

Thank you for that. Just got a Baofeng. Will be getting another handheld for a backup. Will be looking at Yaesu first. Any recommendations for a base station type that is still portable. Like a 100watts type unit that I can bring a power supply with? Maybe something like Yaesu FT-2980R? Would something like this be a compliment to a handheld or just redundant? Thanks for the response! All info appreciated.

Lots of favorable comments for the Baofengs for a first radio. If you get interested in amateur radio, it will be one you pass along to another newbie when you upgrade. I keep (3) BF-F8HP's with plenty of batteries. They are for backup or emergency loaners as needed. My personal HT is a Yaesu FT3DR. I use it every day and my plate carrier rig is set up for it, too

I have one of the cheap ones but I don't think I will be buying any more from them. I have one major issue with them. MADE IN CHINA. I don't want to give ccp another nickel, ever. My future purchases will be most likely made in America, if such a thing still exists... Even if they cost me a good bit more. Still new to this and trying to figure these things out.

Baofengs are the Hi-Points of the radio world. If it's what you can afford, or want to see if you like it, go ahead. If it's mission critical gear, go for a nice radio from Kenwood, Yaesu or Icom. Just my 2 cents worth.

Another area to be aware of when looking at VHF/UHF rigs is their ability to store and manage memory channels in banks. The baofengs I've worked with have all memory channels in one big list. Which is fine, but can be inconvenient. The better rigs allow you to organize memory channels into memory banks to make memory navigation easier. Just an example. I have all my local repeaters in Bank 1. I have my utility frq's like X Band, national call frq's and so on in Bank 0. SARnet is in Bank 5, and so on. It's a small feature that separates good radios from great radios.

I set up the alinco to either a uhf or vhf frq for receive and the opposite for transmit. So the alinco hears all transmissions on the receive frq and retransmits them on the opposite frq. Then I set up the HT's the opposite. Meaning they all transmit on the receive frq of the X Band and receive on the transmit frq of the X Band. This lets the 100w X Band Rig act as a coms hub and extends the operating range of the HT's. Much more powerful than trying to run HT to HT in any kind of COC deployment. It's basically a wagon wheel network.

Sounds good, here's the web page with specs. Full duplex means it run two freq's at the same time and go back and forth for rx with a simple press of one button. This one will do V+V, V+U, U+U, and U+V many will only allow V+U or U+V that is a bit restrictive. And that's where the cross band repeat comes from.

What would you recommend for an upgrade to the handheld that isn't so big it has to sit on a desk. NMaybe something you could carry in a backpack with a power supply? Like a next level up type of unit. Apologies, I'm not familiar with the technical jargon yet.

Keeper, while the 2980R is a solid radio, it is limited to the 2m band only. You will find today that there are at least as many 70cm repeaters out there and in many cases dual band portable antennas have a higher gain on 70cm. While it offers 80w output in the latest version, it is really more limited than even the $25 Baofengs offered today. The price is attractive, but in terms of today's mobile rigs, its really half a radio. GL & 73 de BFB

I don't trust them either. I am using commercial Kenwood radios. You can find them used reasonable and they are very reliable. I like to program them with standard freqs and hand them out to people. This eliminates the need to show someone how to operate the complex nightmare that ham radios can be and I know that they will be on frequency when I need them to be.

Bryan7: I don't know if we have active state-wide leadership. Just keep prepping (yourself, as well as finding members near you). I'm sure if one county group needs help or has an event, others will respond. A Sacramento-area member was doing this back on the previous forum in May/June.

One aspect of CPT is Neighborhood Watch. Don't underestimate the effectiveness of this group building opportunity. Sometimes it can be the Little Old Lady at the end of the street that watches the whole roadway and knows when something is not right and alerts the group. Communication and coordination strengthen them all. Divided they fall.

Example: 2:00 AM, One person steps out for a dog relief. Sees a suspicious car that is out of place and obvious signs of trouble. Hit the panic button on their car. Lights and horn alert the street of intruder and within seconds porch lights turn on and car alarms sound off up and down the whole street. The intruder is seen running to the suspicious car and speeding away. This is community coordination.

Starting with a simple Block Party, BBQ or Meet and Greet is a good first step towards assessing the possibilities of your neighborhood. Granted all areas are different and this applies to some locations better than others. However, the idea is to start in your intimate area and work outwards. Most areas have already well-established organizations (Ham radio club, Lions, Moose, Soroptimist, VVA, Sheriffs and possess, etc.). Make contact, everyone doesn't need to become an OK (at first) but groups need to be on the same page and speaking the same language. Many of these people are like minded. When the times get tough there is going to be a mix of chaos or coordination among the population.

Start locally to prepare your community with communication and the principals of CPT.

In my case (as an example), I'm probably going to be the only OK within an hour drive of my rural house, even after everyone else shows up to this forum. Thinking outside of OK, I've got the local IDPA group that I'd consider friendlies should the S really HTF; I sure would go to their aid if they needed help. My family is woke and trained. The best I can do for OK right now is monitor for relevant local intel and scuttlebutt, and share it here (California section), as well as provide help where I can in the commo sections of this forum (radio is one of my things). But even if there were 10 OKs in my neighborhood, I'm not sure what additional help I'd be as I'm not infantry material (bad back). I guess I could make a good decoy, or maybe run errands. I'd love to go to a meet and greet, and perhaps do event surveillance/protection (standing around people watching) if there was something close enough to me that I could make it to.

Hello Bryan7, I currently reside in the IE. There is one more person not far from where I reside that is also interested in meeting and whatnot. I haven't been able to locate or identify any other OK's in our area...or at least any with in a close range of where I am located. Get ahold of me and we can discuss possible action plan. Lastly, the Orange County OK's went dark and no feedback was ever available.

Agreed, I'm hoping to get a Florida State wide SARnet weekly checkin once we have the state fleshed out. I've also suggested a weekly 40m net for checkins and backup for internet down or deplatforming. The commo-advanced seems to have more Licensed OP's. Appreciate your input on PACE and wheel organization.

Lo-VHF is good for Tactical Ground Mobility mid hi VHF for Land Warfare and Urban but inside of hardened structures you should use UHF even though it doesnt go far it can punch through walls better. also make sure you have the emergency fregs in the comms wheel as well

Supposedly, there's a rally in Fort Bragg, CA planned for late afternoon or evening today. The organizer is an obvious paid plant (a young militant woman who recently moved to the area from Florida). A Fort Bragg city council person offered to talk to the organizer, but she say's she's "too busy to meet" him until the end of August. It's all about promoting chaos. She even started a "go fund me" for herself, and the sheep here are donating. I'll be monitoring.

That said, in a total SHTF scenario, we might want to consider adding a few more HF frequencies on which to look for each other. The bands could get kind of cramped, especially during a solar minimum and everyone is crowding on 40m or something.

Ken, I'm not aware of an FCC requirement to identify a net. Only the requirement for station identification. Here are some examples of HF nets I have checked in: Night Watch, Good Ole Boys, OMISS, Rooster Net, Old Goats Net, and so on. I'm not sure you want to identify anything in the open as Oscar Kilo, let alone Oath Keepers. Hiding in plane sight might be a better approach. Call it anything you like and take any and all checkins. Then use either Signal or this forum to report checkins so OKers know they made it in. Just my thoughts. de BFB it is all encrypted end to end, peer to peer. You can run it through onion routers (if you are a genius) but I have not been able to make that work just yet. we've been using it for years and it works great. there is an issue, which I believe is intentional, but you have to talk to anyone you are directly connected with every so often, or the key will expire.

When I heard them, the Mormons were running a typical net but kept it very basic -- essentially a check-in exercise. Some stations were weak when checking in, but net control had assistance (perhaps one or two other stations appropriately geographically spaced) who would quickly relay the checkin information. They were fast, but understandable. Sounded very professional. Solid CONUS comms during the solar minimum.

Thanks for the info Ron. Yeah I live spitting distance from Pendleton, about equal distance between SD and OC. I dont have comms, but you're right about there being a lot of info. I saw you had given some comms info to another member earlier in july. I gave it a quick once over last night but of course will need to do some more reading.

Depends on the geography the net needs to cover and where the net control station resides in it. A beam antenna, focusing power in one direction, doesn't do much good if the net participants are scattered in other directions around the NCS.

I recently managed to get a 20m-plus beam antenna for cheap -- just need to build it and find a spot ...plus get an ancient rotor working. Anyway, I'm thinking like you're thinking, Bob!

Roger that. Yes a quick in and out net is about all we need for now. The HF net controller is ideally a big gun station with beam antenna on rotors. Also need big gun relay stations to help fill in the gaps. Even then, band conditions have to cooperate.

So yesterday I was doing a "drive-in" movie/concert event down in Los Angeles. We were on the corner of 3rd & San Pedro for those that might know the area. There was a protest going around downtown every couple of hours. The LAPD followed them at a distance back, and just let them block traffic. One thing I did notice however, the presence of ANTIA goons on skate boards between the protestors, and the cops.

A cheater box. I Dont like them. People don't use the repeaters when they have a Hotspot. Then the repeaters get taken down because they aren't being used. At that point might as well just use Zello on your smartphone.

Hi Ron...I think that many have also lost interest in OK's and perhaps found other organizations like the ones that appear on the Modern Militia Movement portal. I subscribe to that website/information portal and have found many joining the California Militia and other organization that might not be geared towards preserving our Republic? Nonetheless, my LZ is secure and waiting for orders and further instructions God Bless you Brother!

Our State channel has been very quiet. Some members may have found others that are close enough to make face to face contact on their own, this is good, However we need to do better. CA is a very populated state that will be on the front lines of the NWO attack. I believe there are many who are laying low and hesitate to put out their details because we are surrounded by non critical thinking Dem zombies. I understand this and believe we need to make some kind of change that helps up organize locally. For anyone wanting to maintain some OPSEC please PM me with location so I can help us make more local contacts to establish teams, I will not post details herd but rather put members in touch with each other. So far I have only 18 members with locations and two that have found each other and close enough to make easy contact. We need to step it up. Time is short before the attacks become more serious through our state.

Can take a look at darpa robotics challenges if you want, lot of info there and videos floating around. They are far more advanced than what they are showing us. 5g will allow them all to network and coordinate under the control of a central ai. Robot armies...Unstoppable Drone swarms for example.

Saw that one last night, thanks though. Quantum computing is what blew it all out of the water. We are on the precipice of an evolutionary leap. The question is who will be in charge of that? And I don't mean left or right or conservative or liberal I mean good or evil. 5g is ready to roll out but it's not so you can have a little bit faster download. 5g will be what delivers the ai to every corner of the world. Smart cities, self driving vehicles and scariest of all robots everywhere. But who controls them? Good or Evil? I think that's the battle we see happening right now at highest levels of government all over the world.

what about the millie weaver story? I've seen some descriptions of assault weapons definitions they are wanting to implement that basically classifies

I don't follow real close but lots of people claim 9th circuit was flipped to conservative earlier this year. Plenty of sources.

Remember..... This state HATES the fact we still own firearms, and they would JUST LOVE to disarm us. The 9th circuit court has not been our friend in the past. Yes I know Trump has appointed many good judges, but there are still more bad than good on the 9th.

So last night I was doing a little research online about the whole high capacity mag situation, and my paranoid self also started thinking..... So getting back to the whole ruling of the 9th circuit the other day. The ""STAY"" on hicap mags is still in effect at this point. It has NOT LET ME REPEAT NOT! been lifted. The state has till the 28th. to do something on the ruling. SO the mags are still not legal to import, manufacture, or own at this point. So LOTS of Californian's have bought these online, and are having them shipped here to CA. The state could go after each and everyone of us. How easy would it be for them to acquire info on the residents that bought them, then one by one, indict us, and take away our firearms, and the ability to own them? If you have bought them in the past day, and if the show up to your house before the 28th, maybe refuse delivery?
Just a thought maybe?

Now that FB and Twitter are purging all patriots it is now more important than ever that we develop and focus on comms. Starting at the State level and working it down all the way to County level. In general our State has Northern, Central and Southern regional territories. Until I am replaced I will act as the temporary POC for CA. I am asking for three volunteers to step up and begin coordinating their regional area members. The first goal is to schedule meet and greet for each county and building chapters or regrouping current groups after this purge from other networking sites.

URL: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/PACE_-_Communication_Plan

PACE is an acronym and methodology used to build a communication plan. PACE stands for Primary, Alternate, Contingency, and Emergency. The PACE method requires the designer to determine the different parties that need to communicate, what information or media needs to be communicated, and then determine the best (ideally four) forms of communication between each of those parties. Each method must be completely separate and independent of the other systems of communication. PACE also designates the order in which an element will move through available communications systems until contact can be established with the desired distant element(s). For each method, the receiver must first sense which one the sender is using, receive the message, and then respond.

A PACE-based Communication Plan exists for a specific mission or task, not a specific unit, because the plan must consider both intra- and inter-unit sharing of information. An organization may have multiple plans for different situations, activities, and/or partners. PACE elements are only those that group has control over. For example, a personally owned cellphones should not be included in a corporate or government PACE plan.

Per the US Army, the PACE plan system is expressed as an order of communication precedence list; primary, alternate, contingency, and emergency. The plan designates the order in which a group will move through available communications systems until contact can be established. The plan does not designate such things as the exact radio channel or talk group to be used if you are using a radio but the order in which you would plan to use the radio and agreed upon method of communications between groups.

A PACE plan is not a frequency plan (which details frequency allocation and radio spectrum characteristics) or band plan (to avoid interference) or channel plan (which details which channels users listen/talk upon) or deployment plan (which details the users' radios types and locations). One cannot use the same device (e.g. radio) nor network (e.g. cellular internet) nor service (e.g. SMS messages) to achieve PACE. One could achieve two parts of PACE by using, for example, an iPhone using Verizon Wireless for Gmail and an Android tablet using AT&T Wireless for text messages. Two more parts could be achieved by mailing a letter via local postal service and reflecting sunlight via a signal mirror and Morse code.

PACE elements may be connected (e.g. the Alternate's audio is also available on Primary's microphone and speaker) but must not be dependent (e.g. Alternate's device has its own microphone and speaker for each user).

Equally important as users having multiple PACE devices is user training and awareness. Users must know when to switch between methods and also know how to effectively use each means.

Emergency Management and Communications Managers should coordinate the development of PACE plans for the many different functions and departments within your organization to ensure that Incident Command can maintain critical communication links. Departmental PACE plans should be coordinated with Emergency Management and the Communications Team. It is critical that individual departments nest their plan within the larger Emergency Plan to ensure that the organization has the resources to execute the plan and reduce unnecessary duplication of assets. Developing comprehensive PACE plans will not ensure perfect communications in a disaster but may help to clear one more layer in the fog and friction found in every emergency situation.

The PACE model applies to other things where a single failure will result in mission/task failure. For example, an infantry soldier may carry a rifle, pistol, grenade, and knife for combat[8]. For example, a tourist may have a rail pass, credit cards, local currency, and hiking boots to move across a country.

AmCON-3 as of 20200602-0700hrs Zulu
Due to the recent civil unrest related to the insurrection by left wing extremists in the United States, AmRRON is raising its readiness condition level to 3 (Increased probability of disruption of conventional communications, however NOT imminent).
There are no known specific threats to our commercial power or communications infrastructure. However, in our assessment, there is a high degree of organization, planning and coordination, as well as evidence of advanced tactics being used. For example, the cutting of natural gas lines at a Minneapolis, MN police precinct in order to enhance the explosion and damage potential to the arson fires used to destroy the building.

We have seen claims on the internet by Antifa types that Molotov Cocktails (an improvised incendiary device) are childâ€™s play, followed by instructions on making homemade explosives in aluminum beer bottles. And we are aware of police radio jamming techniques which have been used against law enforcement in Chicago, disrupting their response to violence. There is an increased likelihood that commercial power or communications could be disrupted to enhance the chaotic effects of the insurrectionistâ€™s violent direct actions. Follow AmRRON.com for more updates.

Inspect your communications equipment and participate in regularly-scheduled training nets. <https://amrron.com/net-resourcestools/amcon-amrron-communications-condition-level/>

Patriots...I am not an alarmist and I am careful to check my source prior to distributing...however, there are some medias outlets that are creditable and reveal information that our western/U.S. media will not disclose. I have been reading the Epoch times for some years now and viewing Joshua Phillips Crossroads for some time as well...and this publication and online does posseses validity.

You mentioned a "HF Ham Group." Is that a net? Where can I find info? I've had no luck with keyword searches on the OK website.

Hey yâ€™all. Iâ€™ve always known about this group. Said Iâ€™d join if it were free. Things are different now. Took my oath in 1999. I hold it in reverence since my oath was to God, with my hand on His word. The oath is literally the reason I joined this group because I see our President take his oath as seriously as I do mine. In fact, heâ€™s the first president in my lifetime to do so. I pledge again to keep the oath to defend the constitution from all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Letâ€™s all take a step back for a moment and understand that the media relishes when one of us fights back. How about we all sit back and â€œpeacefullyâ€ start visiting the homes of democratic politicians and media personalities so they can see how it feels when people with differing opinions disrupt their lives

Think I saw a video or two of that. Warmed my heart. IÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â also near Redlands, but here in my neighborhood although weÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬âve got a few officers & vets, thereÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬âs a lot of teachers (union lemmings) and plenty of other brainwashed idiots, so when the terrorists came here many of my neighbors basically pledged allegiance to blm. They even doxxed a friend of mine who took down a large sign they hung on private property without permission. He was getting death threats on Facebook and they refused to take down the posts.

Good question. If you follow q, youÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬âre aware of the hints of what might be coming surrounding the election... blackouts, grid attacks, massive widespread riots, then martial law... IÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬âm not sure of what potus timetable will be, but IÃ¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬â,Ã¢â¬âm planning on taking my wife & kids to another state and waiting it out until the election is over.

Makes it all the more easy to id them. Like when they staged those fake media stunts to imitate "save the children" or "qanon" demonstrations, not one flag, not one maga hat, they literally just put on their BLM/antifa garb and carried signs with slogans written in black letters. These people are stupid.

@paul.davis Welcome. Are you focused on communicating locally, regionally/nationally, or both? Do people in your area have a comms plan already or are you the one who will create it?

Welcome and thank you Paul for your service. There is plenty of good information here, however it seems hard to find sometimes. I firmly believe that solutions are a bottom up remedy to the comms situation. I started with my local ham club, I find they are made up of like minded people with the same patriotic goals. I am not an expert but have been able to help my community on a local level by offering beginner training to anyone interested and have had excellent support from our club. This has opened the door to many new communications opportunities for the general public. The more we can help our local area the stronger it makes our AO.

Good morning, so I deleted my Facebook account back in 2016 but wanted to reach out to the OK's California High Desert group operating around Yucca Valley/Joshua Tree. Anyone have any contact info for them, an email maybe??? I saw something about an app some of the OK's members use???

The war is underway. Less than 60 days until election. I expect more violence by these terrorists, spreading to every major and midsize town, with assistance from the fake news media, corrupt politicians, and the deep state. Potus will likely continue to hold back on military use, but will expand the use of US Martials deputizing local officers to bypass state & local DAâ€™s. Patriot groups will be invaluable in protecting their own neighborhoods. We must prepare.

If you want to spend a little more, a Yaesu FT-4X gives you more quality (but still Chinese-made). A Yaesu FT-3DR is about 3x the money but it's made in Japan and gives you a lot more capability.

I hate to give the Chinese any money but, to start communicating locally, it's tough to beat the value of a Baofeng UV5R dual band handheld. They're usually $20-30 on Amazon.

The antenna isn't great but you can build an improved antenna for very little money:

According to the AmRRON local net directory, there is/was a net in Lucas County. I don't find any specifics for time/frequency though. Some AmRRON nets are on 146.42 MHz simplex so you might listen/scan there.

You can find some other local (non-AmRRON) nets using the ARRL Net Directory search. Select "Local Nets" and your state.

Good morning All...You may have heard that yesterday Twitter banned OK and things will likely continue to worsen. In June I completed the OK application and paid my dues to join this organization and feel it is very important in these times. I have never received any response from the group with 3 attempts at the web site. I want to join a local Southern California/Orange County group and would be a good team member. Thank you Ron for your contribution here and told a California POC is coming and just ask for help with making contact for next steps/orientation. Thank you.

I should add 6) Change frequencies/bands often, maybe on a prearranged schedule (or maybe your contact knows to check several frequencies to see which one you've randomly selected).

A friend asked me recently about the possibility of unfriendlies locating him through his radio transmissions. My response:

As far as someone triangulating your location is concerned, that's an inherent risk of radio. In fact, some hams do this for fun. It's called "fox hunting."

Countermeasures: 1) keep transmissions very brief. 2) Physically move before and after transmission (or even during). Transmit from random locations. 3) Use as little power as possible. 4) Use the narrowest bandwidth possible. If you're using a handheld FM transceiver, bandwidth isn't something you can further control. Some modes available on fancier radios are inherently narrower bandwidth than others. 5) Use a highly directional antenna so less signal goes in unwanted directions. A multi-element yagi or quad antenna isn't difficult to construct for VHF and UHF bands. They can be constructed from copper pipe or from wire supported by PVC or even cardboard. 6) When not in use, keep your transceiver turned completely off. Even when receiving, there's what's called a "local oscillator" in the receiver which puts out a tiny bit of RF that could be detected by someone nearby.

A 2-meter ground plane should work for 70cm also. Here's a fancier ground plane, however, that uses coils to electrically shorten the antenna on the 70cm band.

Go to www.wunderground.com, then go to maps and radar, then interactive radar, then under layers scroll down to wildfires and click the "Active Fires" layer. This will display all active fires for your local area or zoom out and you will see all active fires in the United States, Canada and Mexico. There are as many fires in Texas and the Gulf Coast region as there are on the west coast. What is going on?

Some suggestions:

- 1) If you don't already have a ham license, consider getting one.
- 2) Program your Baofeng with the frequencies you plan to use. If you don't have a group commo plan that you're following, then I'd start with the FRS, GMRS, and MURS channel frequencies. Add to that the local ham repeater frequencies, especially any that will be used by the emergency communicators in your local ARES/RACES organizations. You can find info at radioreference.com and repeaterbook.com. A local ham club is a good resource too.
- 3) Consider building a better antenna for your Baofeng. I posted a few articles yesterday that should help.

Yes it is coming but it is also already here. It is a spiritual battle. The physical is a reflection of the spiritual battle. The floods, fires, earthquakes happening upon the earth are a reflection of the spiritual battle in the heavenlies. In the same way the fight to come is or will be the same. What is most important for us to get is that in Matt. 24 Jesus warned of deception 4 x's more then anything else. Satan has 2 modes of attack. As a dragon & as a serpent. The serpent deceived Eve and was cursed to crawl on his belly, before this curse he was a dragon that walked. But notice in Rev.12 for a good example how God uses the dragon & serpent interchangeably. We are facing a serpent soon to change into a dragon. Now look at Isaiah 27:1 you see the same. In Matt 24 Jesus spoke of famines & we see it again in Rev. 6 & other places, why what does this mean? Why are there physical famines upon the earth? Because Amos 8:11 says there will be a famine not of bread but for the hearings of the word of God. The physical is a reflection of the spiritual. What concerns me the most is Is. 26:20. We had better be sure in whatever we are doing we are in keeping with His will & not just our own will.

Directly after the Camp Fire it was like an explosion, with circular waves of displaced refuge citizens that were blown away from the blast. Much confusion, everyone looking for help. Tents, tarps and every sort of camper, RV pick up and car looking for water, food, shelter and most of all some kind of help and guidance and return back to normalcy. If you were there you know what I mean.

That was then, this is now. Today there is not the same readily available resources and outreach like we saw before. The rest of the country has their hands full. Resources and manpower from outlying areas to send supplies, first aid and organizational coordination and guidance is just not the same today. This is leaving the displaced with a pretty good idea of who let this mess get this bad. They like many others are fed up with poor leadership. These are the trying times when past silent leaders and laymen will step up and take charge of their lives. No longer trusting others in power. The elected officials have not only let them down but have contributed to the problem.

My town is experiencing a significant increase in Oregon evacuees (license plates and firsthand encounters). As before the refugees are looking for help and guidance. Our town is also on the hit list for attacks using fire. Fire season is just now entering the peak, is expected to extend longer than normal into winter. The desperate situation has been compounded. We also are not really a stable relocation site. The potential for greater blast waves of refugees has grown exponentially.

Locally we have generally been a conservative area. That is, until the mass exodus from SF and surrounding flat lands, starting at the lockdown in March. The tensions are high from the locals who feel they have been invaded; many are very territorial. The left leaning (sleeping at the wheel) transplants moved here at the start of the lockdown are starting to see the corruption and are in the early stages of Truth Trauma, no longer in Denial but experiencing Compromise and Anger).

The last stage of Truth Trauma is Coping. Nowadays, this will be different than during the past fires and catastrophes. Our support systems of government and family have been disrupted, they are not the same, theyâ€™re not here now to soften and make easier this process. Instead we now have many who lost everything of stability who are awake and fed up with the past corruption and little to no help in sight. Those with skills, knowledge, and nothing left to lose, who have the motivation brought on by the kick in the pants will lash out by whatever means available. They will move in whatever direction they see best at the time.

Over the next few weeks if there is not a prompt response and clear leadership in a positive direction for the masses who are in desperate need of support, the situation will continue to denigrate. The outcome does not look good from my point of view. With no stabilizing goals in sight it will become mobs guided by whomever is the sweetest talker shouting the loudest and offering what the crowd wants to here.

The Wall Mart parking lots across the country have the potential to turn into the boiling pot of decent by desperate people with nothing and looking for something. During the Camp Fire Wall Mart (the largest refugee camp) closed and evicted everyone after two weeks. Considering history provides insights. Are you prepared enough and feel confident to leave your family and provide help to others? Or will you have your hands full protecting and caring for your immediate needs. Rescuers were prepared. Victims were not. Sometimes just the preplan of how to respond to an immediate threat of safety is what makes the difference between victims and First Responders.

When is enough, enough? Time is short. It wonâ€™t be long before we can look back at this short time in history and see exactly how these victims, our overlords, and the rest of us will react. Stand ready to provide for others.

â€™Be prepared, and prepare yourself, you and all your companies that are assembled about you, and be a guard for them.â€™

â€™He raises the poor from the dust, He lifts the needy from the ash heap. To make them sit with nobles, And inherit a seat of honor; For the pillars of the earth are the Lordâ€™s, And He set the world on them.â€™

I recommend learning the ropes of beginners communication by programming your radio to A0 and listen. Your local Ham Club is excellent resource and easily found on internet search. Program local frequencies and listen for the Practice Nets" found on Internet. Listening is a critical part of learning the fundamentals of Amateur Radio Communications. Study for Technician class licence. Start local, expand outwards.

Hi TEX2020, Welcome to the amateur radio community. Those radios are a pain to program. I recommend that you download the CHIRP free programming software and purchase a programming cable that fits your handheld so you can connect to a computer. Next look at what frequencies your radio can transmit and receive on. You have the potential (with a UV-5R) to listen to FRS, GMRS, 2-Meter and 70-Centimeter bands. You may not transmit on any of those without a FCC license, and some (FRS & GMRS) even with a license. (Too much power and not-type certified). There are lots of resources to help you study to take the Amateur Radio Technician-Class License. Local Hams administer the tests locally all over the country. The tests cost about $15.00. Find local test dates online.

Heavenly Father, thank you for this Day and this Life. In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, our Saviour, we pray against all enemy activities which are designed to harm Your Children, Your Earth and to destroy others. Protect Your people we pray, bring the attacks of the enemy to nothing and foil all the plans and purposes that are harmful to others.

Lord we know that it is not Your will that any should perish but that all should come to repentance in Christ, and so we pray for the souls of those that are bound by the lies and deceit of the enemy and who are being manipulated by the deception of the evil one.

We ask that in Your grace and mercy those that have been blinded to the truth of the glorious gospel of Christ by the activities of the enemy would be brought into a knowledge of the saving gospel and come to know the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour and we ask this for His praise and glory and in Jesus name,

Amen.

From Steve Quayle's site: What I heard today:

We are getting ready to enter into the darkest hour/time the world has EVER known. It will make the Dark Ages seem mild in comparison. For the Dark Ages were regionalized and centralized. They took place in the so-called "known" world, but there were many indigenous and native peoples in unknown parts of the world that worshipped Me in Spirit and in Truth. Pure bloodlines that kept the purity of Who I Am. Now evil has expanded and exploded. It runs rampant as in the days of Noah, yet in the days of Noah there were no missiles, no nuclear weapons, no satellites, no AI, no CERN. The forces of evil had no way to open the vortexes on a large scale and no way to communicate their plans to each other except remotely. Therefore they were far less organized. They have now hit critical mass. They are ready for a worldwide take down. I've given the world many invitations and have extended the time many times, but no more. Lucifer's time is upon you. He will have his day and I have given the world the master they have asked for. But for MY remnant, I will not only shorten the days, but WILL hide them in the shadow of My Wings and My peace shall rest upon them.

Robyn

Scanning discrete channels would probably be ineffective in detecting these signals. Are digital scanners capable of scanning the entire spectrum between a start and stop frequency or are they all discrete? (My recollection is analog scanners are continuous spectrum, not discrete spectrum.)

AmCON-3 as of 20200602-0700hrs Zulu
Due to the recent civil unrest related to the insurrection by left wing extremists in the United States, AmRRON is raising its readiness condition level to 3 (Increased probability of disruption of conventional communications, however NOT imminent).
There are no known specific threats to our commercial power or communications infrastructure. However, in our assessment, there is a high degree of organization, planning and coordination, as well as evidence of advanced tactics being used. For example, the cutting of natural gas lines at a Minneapolis, MN police precinct in order to enhance the explosion and damage potential to the arson fires used to destroy the building.

We have seen claims on the internet by Antifa types that Molotov Cocktails (an improvised incendiary device) are child's play, followed by instructions on making homemade explosives in aluminum beer bottles. And we are aware of police radio jamming techniques which have been used against law enforcement in Chicago, disrupting their response to violence. There is an increased likelihood that commercial power or communications could be disrupted to enhance the chaotic effects of the insurrectionist's violent direct actions. Follow AmRRON.com for more updates.

Inspect your communications equipment and participate in regularly-scheduled training nets.

A few weeks ago, somebody on AmCon posted a photo of items confiscated from an arrested Portland rioter. Included was a Baofeng handheld with the two active frequencies plainly visible. One (155.5 MHz) was between two public safety channels. The other (303.06 Mhz) I don't know about. I think it's perfectly plausible that Antifa is simply picking frequencies that seem to be unused in their A0 and then operating on them illegally. It also means that one needs a more sophisticated means of detecting their frequencies than simply scanning FRS/GMRS channels, etc. A Uniden scanner with the "Close Call" feature may be a good option.

There are also scanners that have a function that will trigger on any nearby strong signal... Uniden markets it as "Close Call" you can get analog scanners with CC for under $80 new, and far less used.

Mike... yes, several options... If you are able to run a laptop, there are SDR receivers (Software Defined Radio) that will show whole swaths of spectrum.... You can get budget USB stick SDR's for less than 20 bucks , but it does take some tinkering with software to get them to work.

@ok1776. Interesting. Good catch. Are even the older Baofengs (the ones that got them in trouble with the F.C.C.) incapable of 303 MHz?

That photo with the frequency is mis-leading; the dual-band baofengs don't operate on the 303 frequency. You can type it in but the radio will reject it. Notice that the last digit has yet to be input, I can replicate this same thing on one of my baofengs.

The Baofeng radios are set for operation for two bands, around 150 MHz, and around 450 MHz. Those parameters are usually fixed in the radio, so I wonder how they would get it to operate at such an odd frequency (303.06).

303.06 is part of the band where ceiling fan remote controls, and garage door openers work... I would suspect that they just picked random freqs for illegal use.

Digital can be set up to scan across any programmed frequency that is in the radio. This means finding their frequencies and then setting a monitor on them. While this in theory sounds difficult due to the many different options, in reality it is rather easy.

Most of them that are using the same technique here in the UK are running into open violation of UK law and that is getting them hunted by the authorities over here. In the US it might be the same issue. They tend to either use an unassigned talk group and various coding structure that is available on the phone or they will use some of the commercial frequencies that many of the current DMR type radios can transmit on. One thing they may be using is one of the cheap and disposable repeater set ups based on the GD-77 hotspot open firmware concept. These also have limits and can be monitored.

The question now becomes how do we secure comm's ourselves better and how do we set up an effective comm's system that allows for the level of communication that is going to be needed. As this is now and has been for months a low intensity conflict civil war.

Monitoring is now a very serious 24/7 job that needs to have information sharing with law enforcement that we can trust. as well as other groups that can be worked with.

Agree. Local ham clubs are. a great resource. Also, look through some of the previous posts in this group if you're interested in online study tools.

Another option, before or after getting your ham license, is getting a GMRS license. It offers fewer capabilities than a ham license but there's no test involved. Fee is, IIRC, $70. Allows you to communicate on UHF (i.e., locally) with up to 50 watts. <https://www.azgmrs.org/how-to-get-a-gmrs-license.php>

Otherwise, a good place to start is to find out what repeaters you have in your locale. This is where most of the local ham activity happens. See repeaterbook.com. Also, do a web search to find your city/ county ARES or RACES organizations. These are your area's ham emergency communicators. Their web site usually tells you what repeaters and frequencies they'll be operating on.

Looks like the quansheng is a dual band vhf/uhf. Communication with it is going to be local line-of- sight only (or through a repeater to which you have a line of sight). You'll want to find out if you have a local AmRRON net in your area. They may be running the net simplex (i.e., no repeater involved), which is usually on 146.42 MHz, or they may be using a local repeater.

A Jennings pistol is better than a sharp pointy stick... A glock or Sig is better than a jennings.

A Baofeng is better than 2 cups and some string... A Falcon III is better than a Baofeng... Don't let perfect be the enemy of good enough. The insinuations that CCP has "hacked" them and can somehow "compromise" the non-existent security is absurd on face, and can be worked around with one of the O.S. firmware flashes that are floating around.

For the 2-meter band (144-148 MHz), the offset is usually 600 kHz (0.6 MHz). Repeaters offsets may be either "plus" (meaning the repeater's uplink is 600 kHz higher than the published downlink frequency) or "minus" (meaning the uplink is 600 kHz lower than the published downlink frequency). Usually, repeaters downlinking on 147 Mhz and higher use a "plus" offset while those downlinking below 147 Mhz use a "minus" offset.

2) Most repeaters receive a user's transmission on one radio frequency (the "input" or "uplink" frequency) and simultaneously retransmit it in another radio frequency (the "output" or "downlink" frequency). Repeater listings tell you the downlink frequency (i.e., the frequency you'd listen on). The "offset" tells you where the uplink frequency is. Again, if you're just listening in, you don't have to worry about the offset.

1) Most repeaters are open for the use of any licensed amateur radio operator. Anyone can listen in, even without a license. Transmitting, however, requires an appropriate license. Repeaters don't have a password but most require that users transmit a special (unhearable) tone to activate them. This is called a "PL" tone or "CTCSS" (continuous tone controlled squelch system). The frequency of the required tone is listed with the rest of the repeater's details. This is something you program into your radio (if you're licensed to transmit). A PL tone is not necessary if you're just listening.

Good questions. For those who are wondering, a repeater is an automated relay station that allows local operators to communicate over longer distances, over hills, etc. Amateur ("ham") repeaters are usually owned and operated by a local amateur radio club.

If you want to see if you have the repeater correctly programmed just key up the mike for a second or two and you will here a "Ker-Chunk" or it will identify itself with a computer generated ID response. You should not transmit any thing, just a quick key up of the PTT and then listen. If nothing you need to recheck programming. If you here feedback then you are activating the repeater.

More Complicated - I don't know much about CB (Citizen's Band). They are still there and may have been de-regulated. Not sure. The step into Amateur Radio (Ham) is a bit of an adventure. There are classes for the required FCC licenses. The easiest class is Technician. There is a multiple choice test and a small fee. There is a lot to learn even at the basic level, just to get on the air legally and efficiently. Amateur radios cost from $30. for a Handi-Talkie to thousands for a system that takes up a room in your home and uses a tower to talk around the world and even out of the world. (Think comms to the Space Station)

Starters - You can buy FRS or GMRS handheld radios (Handi-Talkies in Ham-Speak) online or at outdoor stores. Look at Midland or Motorola brands to make compatibility easier. Radios for both these systems use a lot of the same frequencies (Channels), but GMRS are allowed to be more powerful than FRS. A license is required to broadcast with GMRS, but there is no test and the $80. (or so) license is good for multiple years. (See FCC website or Google GMRS License) Another good thing about GMRS is that the license is a 'system' license and it allows non-commercial use by the whole family. This is a good way to start with two-way radio, AmRRON operators typically monitor GMRS channel 3 so, yes, if there are nearby AmRRON operators doing this, you could theoretically communicate with them in GMRS. Those with the capability also monitor CB and MURS channel 3.

<https://amrron.com/communications-resources/ch3-project/>

Also, American Contingency Ham Radio Network is planning to use GMRS for their local comms although their SOI is still in its infancy. Channel plans, at this point, are being developed locally and there's no national VHF/UHF plan.

With a GMRS License, you can only talk on the FRS/GMRS frequencies 460-470mhz range. You also need to make sure that the radio you are using is licensed to be used on those frequencies. In Georgia, we have a Repeater system that I am apart of and they really help understand the ins and outs of GMRS. You will need to look at your radio to see what FCC Parts they are licensed to work with (Part 90/95).

Radio Programming - Amateur radio service handi-talkies are not easy to program via the radio buttons. I recommend you source a programming cable to connect your radio to your computer and download software to add frequencies to the radio that you can easily select as needed. Free software that works with most Bao Feng radios is called CHIRP. There are YouTube videos that can be a great help in getting started. CHIRP can even upload repeater information based on your location. It's not perfect, but it can be a big help. My iCom v86 needed a specific cable and software. This can be a 'hidden cost', but is worth the money.

Recommended frequency programming for UV-5R and other amateur service radios are the two 'National Calling Frequencies'. In 2M it is 146.5200 and 446.0000 on the 70 CM band. These are informally reserved for simplex (non-repeater) contacts. Make contacts on the calling freq and then switch to another freq for the conversation. Take a look at the informal 'Band Plans' via Google. The spectrum is not really all that wide-open. Good manners dictate what type of traffic is appropriate on which frequencies. It should be stressed again - A license is required to transmit and Hams are good people, but you need to learn the rules that keep community functioning.

Local simplex nets, if any exist in your locale, are usually on 146.42 but time varies. Local repeater nets are usually listed by whatever club owns the repeater.

The following page lists locales where there was, at one time, a local net. It's not necessarily current though and usually doesn't list time/frequency.

Harry_Manback - Unsure of your question, so I'll answer as best I can. I studied for a couple of months using a book I bought online (If interested, I'll look up the title) that just presented the answers in a story-form. Then I took at least one online quiz per day for two weeks, while waiting for an examination day to come around. I knew there were some questions I would miss, if they showed up from the question pool. I just don't know or care about CW or bands other than 2 Meter or 70 Centimeter for voice. The actual test can take however long you reasonably need. I probably took about 20 MIN for the test. The volunteer examiners really want you to pass, although you might have to buy lunch if you take really long...

Perhaps your right. The fellow seems very knowledgeable. I'll have to see whether a rubber duck (i.e. coiled) antenna is related to the distance of propagation. Coils are used to shorten the physical height of an antenna but I don't think they significantly effect the propagation characteristics. BTW, my technical knowledge skills are pretty good, though rusty. My operational skill is nearly zero. This article is exactly what I've been looking for. I marked the site. Thanks.

Great article, except the part about shortening and antenna to reduce distance of transmission. This will result in high VSWR and possibly damage the transmitter. Also it will reduce the sensitivity of the receiver.

Yes. A fully extended resonant antenna will radiate more efficiently than a helically-wound resonant antenna. Still no guarantee that that's what he meant but I thought it seemed logical.

tex2020 - Not sure what model Bao Feng you have, but most handi-talkies will benefit from an antenna upgrade. I agree with your advice on buying the best you can afford, but I have an iComm V86 as well as several Bao Feng models and I find the iComm much harder to use and the Bao Fengs almost intuitive. Just my impression/opinion. I find the dual-band feature worthwhile. It is nice to have UHF as well as VHF for use, depending on the terrain features in your AO.

I have been in Amateur Radio since 1987. You will always find the mine is better than yours crowd and the ones that are keeping up with the Joneses. Spend $35-$45 bucks and get one instead of listening to the naysayers then make up your mind. I have had both high end and the overseas brands. You key up the mic and the guy on the other end hears you. That is all that matters. Oh! I forgot to mention, if you are inclined to get one and experiment... don't tell anyone what you are using. After a few days or a week then tell them. I bet they wont tell the difference. If you get one on Amazon you can always return it if you dont like it.. depends on the model. to buy a kenwood or yaesu etc... you need 3 to 4 times the money. I wouldnt want to pay that kind of money to use on a vest etc... just to have it break. I mean I can buy 3 or 4 of the baofengs for 1 of the name brands.

I am not a fan of Baofeng. I have had too many issues with that chinese junk. I would rather put a little extra money into a nicer radio like a kenwood, icom or motorola. I am sure some of those might be chinese made as well, but I definitely threw my Baofengs away.

Professionals have money to throw around and write off taxes. Now if you this organization will buy however many tens of thousands of radios for its members it wont happen. But for less than $50 most if not all members can afford a radio. Beofengs work great. I have two of them and there is a key press mod that opens them up you have tx/rx throughout its capability.

Eli - Take a look at Nagoya (sp?) 16" antennas from eBay. They also offer lots of options. Most Bao Fengs need a SMA Female connector on the antenna unless you want to use an adapter. Some eBay stuff is junk, some is not. You are doing the right thing by asking for advice. Antennas can be cheaply made, but you need a little antenna theory knowledge. For instance, don't hold a handi-talkie stock antenna horizontally. You will likely reduce the effectiveness.

I have had better luck with Wouxun than with Baofeng. It is just a little bit more in price, but a better device that will not break the bank. Not sure if the price needed to be added to the comment about getting a Yaesu. We know they are not cheap.

Good debate. A radio is a radio. However, you have to consider cost, ease of use, durability, backups, etc. AR15DCM mentioned the Baofeng is full duplex capable. I didn't know that.

Baofeng is what i have. And we can bet that new members who are as ignorant of Comms as i am will buy one as well. If there are better basic radios out there than, imo, we need to come up with one to standardize Georgia on so new members will go for those and training can be standardized as well. Guys with the bigger more powerful rigs start forming a state wide net and practicing on that. I am in GA Region 2, Dawson County. I need to know how to contact someone in Rabun County. Will my little radio reach one county over should we have a member there? Not sure...North Georgia has mountains so terrain plays a role. Can i put a larger antenna on it? If so what kind? Standardize that as well. This is the radio i bought. Sounded good. Not exactly sure what its full capabilities are. https://www.amazon.com/gp/product/B07YFRV8Y1/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_asin_title_o00_s00?ie=UTF8&psc=1

I have a $2600.00 Yaesu HF rig loaded with all of the filters, a $300 Italian custom made CW key with my call sign engraved on it etc etc... But then again HF is a different animal than VHF/UHF and if you don't have a good front end on them along with the filters you won't hear the station on the other end you intend to communicate with. For those spectrums (VHF/UHF) you don't need to break the bank with one. I also have a Kenwood TM-V71A that I purchased brand new sitting in a box that I have NEVER turned on or hooked up to a power source because I used my Beofeng radios. They got the job done just as well. So as far a real radio? Take your next paycheck, damned the bills and get a real radio LOL, jk . To each their own.

If you can afford a better radio, by all means get one. A Baofeng is probably better than nothing. I have one as a backup/"beater" radio but my "real" radios are Yaesu. They were all made in Japan, BTW. The accessories were, indeed, made in China.

@AR15DCM Good point. Six meters and 220MHz seem to be "forgotten bands" a lot of the time. I can only guess that it's because many people lack equipment for them. Even the state and county ARES plans that I've seen don't use them.

Not an owender Baofeng, just a shopper who buys the best product at the best price with good features when compared with high priced products.

Look if its not for you great more power to you. I am not putting you down at all. I am just trying to show that for new users or even experienced users, there are alternatives to the expensive Yaesu or Kenwood products.

You must own stock in Baofeng as much as you push their products. Read my last statement on looking at products and their origin. You can buy them all you want. They are not for me.

I agree. Now. I just knew i needed a radio, wanted to get something others seemed to be using and get educated. Now that i know of other, better ones, its my plan to upgrade

"Baofeng is a manufacturer based in China, unlike many of the other commercial amateur radio transceivers, which come from Japan (Icom, Kenwood, Yaesu and Alinco are all based there). Baofeng and other China based manufacturers are all priced well under any of the Japanese counterparts, which makes it nice price-wise." I will take my chance with the radios from Japan before China. Yes a lot of tech is made in China, but the more we buy elsewhere, the more we take from sending that money to China.

If an American company would make a super affordable radio I would buy it. If you look at all of the components of Yaesu, Kenwood, or whomever... They are all made overseas OR the parts are made overseas, and it is just assembled in the USA. So, if you look at a $200+ Yaesu or Kenwood OR a $50 Beofeng and you are a beginner or you would want a banger to use in training or out hunting or some other rough activity, would you use your most expensive radio? or a $50 radio?

Something like this would certainly be good for a State wide Comms person to have to communicate nationally. Or even for national to upgrade to. It sounds very technical and i apologize, i am still crawling and learning to walk lol

I brought up standardizing too. Than we figured with every ones budgets being different it would be hard to do. My BaoFeng didnt cost that much, will communicate with team members and for me will be a good intro to radio comms. With every ones recent input i am planning on getting a better one in the future and getting my HAM license now as well.

or for that matter a 144 MHz (2 meter) radio will have more range than a 440MHz radio. As an example on lower frequencies, I can drop down to the HF 40 or 80 meter band and talk around the world with little effort. But you will only be able to talk very long range with rare weather events or space events.

Yes you are right there, But radio brand for a handheld does not matter IMHO, as long as they can TX/RX on the same frequencies that the team is using.... I am talking under 1mile too

Tom Laverick, with all due respect, frequencies do matter !, you are mistaken on that comment. The higher you go in frequency the more power and higher the antenna you will need to communicate. Someone talking simplex on 6 meters will undoubtedly out talk a person talking simplex on the 440 frequencies.

Yes 6 meters is forgotten. My Yaesu HF base/mobile rig has 6 meters in it. I plan on making a wire dipole to hang from one of my Oak trees. They are around 75ft - 80ft high. I used to work for the Florida Marine Patrol and their radio system was 6 meters because of the range it has simplex (mobile to mobile), no repeater, and with a repeater.

From the following web doc about 6 meters _*"Your local range is better on 6m than on 2m with the same power and a similar antenna."*_

Hey @BigBear1776 Brands do not really matter Frequencies are Frequencies. if you go to #cpt-commo-advanced and click the paperclip you can see the national document with those frequencies. your state may use others as well.

True, and we are also talking about buying supplies we will need for a response trailer as well. Printing swag and banners. Some people still need plate carriers, magazines and all that too. I dropped 1400 last month getting my things up to speed and still waiting on my PC. (not from OK site) Until then we can come to some agreement on what the next upgrade will be. All in good time.....

I read this article earlier. If Trump wins and the Republicans sweep, people must be held accountable for the coup attempts against Trump. Otherwise, more coups will be attempted.

I knew that would stroke your ego! But that was sarcasm! You are not in control of my emotions or my thoughts. Marxism and communism is a threat to all living creatures! If the police or the military embrace either, they must be put down. So Marine, if you can't handle that, you were not a Marine!

Nobody's going to kick you out Tex... you just made it obvious again however when you could have let it go.... You hate Cops, fine. We got it. The question stands - why are you here? There are many organizations and movements that don't require you to be, at the least, less aggressive and not utterly disrespectful of your fellow members, right? Take your hate, and use it, but use it on the people who deserve it - not all Cops..... SMFH..... I'm glad in some ways. At least if you end up standing a post with an active or former or retired LEO, they'll know to keep one eye on you, one on their wallet, and one on their Balls.....

A quick scan, if you choose, can be done of above posts to understand the deeper issue we face. This battle is on so many levels but you can basically put them into 3 catagories. Financial, Government & Religion. What we see in the streets is just the visible of what is hidden.

One more for those who say never give up ground. Here is a history lesson on all the ground already lost. I understand what yous are saying but the reality is we have already been taken captive in too many areas & ways. Quote from this article: If the American people do not fight to defend their institutions and democracy, the United States could soon be ruled by an "expert" class, tech oligarchs, and other autocrats, and, although what will happen if the US government changes hands remains to be seen, many Americans could be forced to follow the usual autocratic road to serfdom. Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Claremont Institute Thomas Klingenstein noted that "We are in a fight for our lives".

It ain't over till it's over. Vote fraud is so rampant, it simply won't stand up. This is what the Communists (Democrat apparatchiks) planned. Give the appearance Biden was ahead, so they can take to the streets and intimidate us into submission. They will back down if we don't roll over. I doubt any OK will back down.

There is plenty of reason to be hopeful. It looks like the Republicans will hold the Senate, blocking the radical left agenda. Their House majority has been weakened. The Supreme Court seems to be solidly Constitutional. The evidence of vote fraud seems overwhelming. Here is a summary.

Reagan said, "the US is the last great bastion for freedom and liberty" where would you go, if the US falls? All other nations have already fallen! We must stay and fight! They will take my guns from my cold dead fingers! If they do that, I will not be in a defensive operation, I will be on the offense!

Well, President Trump laid down the gauntlet. He claimed to have won the election. As he said, he was cruising to reelection, and then it stopped... (I had that feeling too.) He called it a fraud on the American people. I think the Communists (Democrat apparatchiks) know it too, which is why they sent the signal, all the votes must be counted... Here we go...

Biden just spoke to his supporters. He said something like "every vote should be counted." In my opinion, this is the "go" signal to the Antifa/BLM militants.

``` The President then tweeted "We are up BIG, but they are trying to STEAL the Election. We will never let them do it. Votes cannot be cast after the Polls are closed!"

Also here in Pa I saw something I never saw before. Mennonites had Trump & US flags mounted to their buggies as they were going down the road. Also saw online Mennonites at Trump rally. AND no masks, the Mennonites do not wear masks.

Once inside polling place that young man behind me had a friend of his come in shortly after with a mask. When he saw his friend and some others with no mask he too put his away.

Went to vote this afternoon & there were about 7-10 people including myself without a mask out of about 20-30 people waiting in line. It was wonderful to see. The man behind me, who was in late 20's early 30's I would guess, went to put his mask on as we got to door to go in. I said to him, "don't do that, we will be fine." He put it back in his pocket. Also saw several without masks in groc. store for 1st time. Usually I may see 1 other besides myself. This is a good thing, I was so happy & had a wonderful day.

All I have to say is any end that comes with the main stream reporting a Biden win is straight propaganda. Why would any one listen to more lies and think, maybe it could be true, really, has anyone been paying attention? Just the last 20 years for all those who don't realize the lies have been the official explanation of events since the 1950's at least. There are generations of Americans who's idea of events and reality are complete fiction, this in itself is not only a crime against the American people but a crime against humanity. Are the patriots going to stand up, draw a hard line, and say, this far no further. Or, are we going to take it like the 8 years of Odipshit that we suffered through. Think, where would we be if Hitlery had won. The communist states of America, I'll see them in hell before that happens.

This is not going to end the way these commie bastards think it is, either the fraud will be exposed and the true results shown or the people, patriots will stand up and push back. If they want to keep going and push the limit they are in for a rude awakening, there are a lot of us who aren't going to let this BS stand. "Liberty or death."

To me, everything in DC is a negotiation. Information is leverage. How the federal government could watermark all the ballots when I thought the states created them, is beyond my understanding. But that said, to think the President, who knew this was coming, just sat around for the last four years and did nothing about it, is just as unbelievable. He is a genius with savvy. We can expect some revelations in the coming days in my humble opinion.

I will believe that when I see it. I have been hearing rumors of 100k sealed indictments, and thought that August would have been a good time to start serving those, but nothing. This is like saying, let's wait until the house is fully engulfed in flames before we even call the fire department. I hate to sound negative, but I'm beginning to question the whole process. Don't get me wrong, I hope this is true. I'm getting ready for the war that is coming.

If when they vote in Iran, the voters are required to put their thumb print on the ballot to verify their vote, why do we not have a similar system? This is easily done. The fact that we have to go through this every 4 years, is ridiculous. If WE THE PEOPLE Do not rise up and demand accountability with the sanctity of the vote, we will eventually lose the Republic.

We can only have an up rising if we do it in mass. I have been opposing this communist overthrow for years. Standing alone, no help from anyone. I have been called every name in the book, and received no help from others. I seriously doubt, this will be any different. If we act alone, we will be crucified! We will be labelled 'a loan nut'.

If it comes to confiscation, they will come to each home individually. Not one house after the other. They will claim the resident is a criminal. Even his neighbors and friends will not intervene. After all if he is a criminal, he does not deserve to own guns, does he? So,,,are you willing to shoot a cop? Because, they are the ones who will come to your house.

I have to wonder what have you been doing over the yrs to push back this global technocratic take over ? There will be no uprising as you seem to be imagining or hoping for. Are you aware of the Technology the deep state has at its disposal ? I suggest you take a deep breath & calm down. If & when the need comes for hot war you will know, we all will know. But it is more likely to be area by area.

samtX my reply to 2:03 comment : I saw here in Pa for the 1st time in my life state reps. taking a stand & fighting back with action & not just words. I reached out to all of them, only 3, but they had many co-sponsors the actions they took. We do not have the majority here that anything much has happened thus far. But it is important & yes start paying attention locally, in your state & encourage those who might actually be doing something. If we do not they can lose heart & feel like no one cares.

The problem with the left being more organized than us is it makes them very easy to locate, very predictable and easily at the mercy of small disorganized well trained teams. While there are a few shameful veterans with them the lion's share of active, inactive, reserve, veteran, and law enforcement are with us.

Hey I just got a call from Agent David Jones informing me that my social security number has been fraudulently used in criminal activities and that I had better talk to them or face criminal charges. Agents are in fact just down the street staging to come get me. Talking to Agent David Jones now is my only hope. Can you believe that Agent Jones had a very thick Paki accent and a back trace on the Social Security Agents number revealed that it's not a working number. I'm very scared, I really hope Social Security Agents don't kick in my door. Do people still really fall for that shit? I was trying to have some fun with him by telling him he might not have the right number that I am SAC Elliot Ness of the Dallas FBI field office. He hung up when I asked for some interagency cooperation. LMAO

You do understand that the guys you would be looking down your barrel at will be the same ones we call brothers and make up the body of OK. It will take more than a stolen election before the active duty guys say this is unlawful and I won't obey that order. On active duty an armed group marches on Washington that all enemies foreign and DOMESTIC will be what they initially see. First we have to see if the theft is a success, then we have to see if the court fails at its job. Then more hands on action may be called for. First we have to try and follow the rule of law, then civil disobedience, and when all other options have been exhausted decisive action may be needed.

It looks like a legal battle right now. We need oversight in the recounts. What do we do when the law fails to provide oversight? Do we gather large peaceful protests in those areas? Stuart has suggested QRFs but that would in my mind be only necessary if Trump is declared winner and the left tries to surround the white house.

Biden is smiling because he has no idea where he is. dementia is a bitch. He probably denies taking money from Hunter and China because he really has no memory of it. Probably doesn't remember that Hunter is his kid. I'd be more worried about Kamala when Biden can no longer physically serve and steps down is six months.

I can't understand why BLM and Antfi refuse to come protest and riot in my Texas neighborhood. People around here would be very welcoming I'm sure. We'd even point out the best places to loot. They may not get the same response from the community here that they did in Portland or Philly. They would get little to no reaction to their peaceful protest. Well, at least until the burning, breaking, and stealing peaceful part started. They probably wouldn't like the response to that at all.

Unfortunately, we are examining how we treat the Democratic party as the Bolsheviks that they are. They are no longer just another American political party. They are engaging in an attempted coup to swing an election like they have practiced in Eastern Europe. We cannot allow this to stand.

While the legal battle is being fought, folks are pondering action steps. The least of which is to make it clear that stealing elections and sending gangs into our communities will not be tolerated.

Probably not, unless we have some million dollar lobbyists. I was actually with Doc Anderson (Tx State Rep. for McLennan County) Monday night while helping the RNC put signs at the polling places. I asked him what is was going to take to get constitutional carry passed in Texas. He said some jackass civilian that was wanting it passed went to the Speaker's house armed with the intention of pressuring him to get it moving forward. It didn't go well. Jackass went to jail and constitutional carry got shelved.

The first thing to do is take a breath and see how it plays out, then see if the courts can resolve it. After that I guess we wait for them to come for our guns then act accordingly.

I'm more than happy to assist in QRF, I'm certainly not looking to go out and get in a fight with American citizens. I kinda swore I'd protect them no matter how misguided or foolish they may be. I'm more concerned with a democrat control in all three branches allowing them to pass basically any anti 2A laws they want. I will not comply with unconstitutional gun laws or confiscations. I pray that it never comes to that but if does I'd rather it happened while I am able to resist rather than it falling to my children.

Here's some thoughts on getting involved. If you have the background and training, contact Stuart for being a part of the QRFs that might need to go to DC to act in accordance with the law to help stop rioters or people trying to overthrow the government. If you are worried about not being a part of an active local group right now, inquire into your state's militia (in Texas we have TSM) or look up your local American Contingency group (in my state they are actively organizing CPTs). The only way we are going to exercise our second amendment is lawfully. So you will be protecting someone's property at their request, you will be operating on behalf of law enforcement (e.g., your Sheriff deputizes you or you are part of his/her posse) or you will be defending your home if they come to you. There will be no mass of armed citizens rising up to enforce the constitution kind of thing absent some type of legal consensus like in the states during the civil war. Other than that there is information warfare and exerting political pressure through peaceful and lawful activism.

History is littered with empires that decayed, some faster than others. Our founding fathers recognized this and that, I firmly believe, is part of the basis for the second amendment. So, the question becomes, what good is the second amendment if we're not going to use it?

A well regulated militia is necessary to the security of a free state - If no well regulated militia then no free state. The size, capability and resolve of the militia will provide the checks and balance without the need for any violence. Secret ballots give secret results - it is not who votes that matters it is who counts the votes (attributed to Joseph Stalin). Popular elections always have and always will oppress minorities. Please read Federalist #68. The question now is whether there is the courage to free ourselves from tyranny. Every day of inaction means a day that the enemy grows stronger. Political parties are the problem -see George Washington's Farewell Address. I posted the high points of the address a few months ago on the New York State channel.

We are about to find out if there are any Real Patriots willing to take action or just a bunch of telephone tuff guys hiding behind their keyboards. Alex Jones has said that he was approached buy the globalist and offered millions to sell out and when he said people would resist, they said there will be some resistance but in the end everyone will just accept it. Is this what the American people have become, is this what humanity has become? Slaves.

In reality Trump won in spite of all this, even though he shot himself in the head & survived he is still going to cry murder & they may windup killing him in other means as well." At 10:30 into show David states the obvious " The GOP is non essential."

Just started listening to David Knight show for this day 11-4. Starting about at 5:40 I will write what he said so well and goes on farther then what I will write. You can go listen if you want. " We are now into a completely corrupt system that is totally detached from reality as far as the election is concerned. Just like the rest of 2020 has been, totally corrupt totally lawless & totally detached from reality.

Wow ! Let's switch to a mail in ballot system. We can then just send in ballots in someone's name whether they really wanted to vote or not.

As far as I am aware of we have 3 Reps. here in Pa. who are fighting back with many co-sponsors to articles and bills to bring the democrats under some kind of lawful control. All have failed thus far because we are the minority in Harrisburg. But they are pressing on & now with those from Trump coming in we MIGHT see some progress ?? But I am not holding my breath.

Elioenai - Not familiar with the radio you referenced. If it is a hand-held unit, your range is likely less than three miles without using a repeater. Don't know exactly what you mean by 'radio show'. It is possible to set up a 'Net' event on a local repeater. You would need to contact the owner or control operator of a local repeater. If you have a 1500 W fixed base with a good antenna, your range of contact CAN be very far. It depends on the band, time of day and atmospheric conditions. There are lots of free resources out there. Learn all you can to get the most out of your license.

Elioenai - Google Amateur Radio Technician License and look up what bands you have privileges on. Also note that some bands are CW (Intl Morse Code) only for Techs. Also, you might look up local Hams in your area for help. The FCC database has lists you can access.

Man, all those locations are days away from where I live in south central Texas. I run a small mechanic service with one employee, me. Working paycheck to paycheck I would need help getting to these events for support. I have a serviceable condition deuce and a half that is at the Oath Keepers disposal, with a day or two notice I could have one or two more. I know these trucks well and can train others to operate them.

Hey all I have a message from Stewart. There is a lot happening that we do not see, Do not think you are abandoned!!!

Stewart Rhodes
For those who may have missies it earlier here is Priority of work:

1. Support Kellye SoRelle's independent investigation into election fraud in Detroit.
2. Carefully document election fraud nationwide.
3. Support any other independent investigators/whistle blowers
4. Run intel in support of any patriot protests in support of investigators/Oath Keepers security ops in support of such protests.

If anyone can attend a Raleigh rally tomorrow it would be much appreciated. Trump supporters, inc families with young children, had their car pelted with rocks during the drag the interstate parade last weekend.

I've probably said this a dozen times on different threads here. Each state OK is different activity. National level seems to be doing stuff. My state is dead and so I am part of a militia as well as American Contingency which are actively doing stuff in terms of the CPT (Civilian Protection Team) concept.

But we are also patriots who want to maintain our republic as it stands to protect our God given rights. This forum for me hasn't yielded much as far as loose connections and random intel. Look in your state forums. There's where you'll get more out of. You may also look around. Some states are highly organized, others (like here in CA) not so much. If your state isn't doing much talk with others and see what you guys want to do. If there's already leadership go to them.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

This is about FREEDOM, it's that simple. You either fight for it or you lose it. The Democrats crossed a line this time and we'll soon know who is willing to put their life on the line and who isn't. Last sentence of the Declaration of Independence "we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor". Everything our Founding Fathers fought against is what is facing us now.

Just heard Rush point out that Biden under performed (got fewer votes) EVERYWHERE than Clinton and King O did EXCEPT...EXCEPT... for 4 places. Bet you can guess those 4 places. What a coincidence that it just happens to be the 4 battleground states where poll watchers weren't allowed in even with a court order. So there it is again...without them manufacturing votes out of thin air sleepy joe would be in last place there too- behind everybody else as usual.

I hope everyone understands this - the unfortunate reality is that with just a few keystrokes on a computer (a weapon) the enemy can make your wealth and your good name disappear. What weapon do you have to counter? What might be better - a .308? A .223? A militia of 100 million patriots?

There is an old saying that goes something like this - A sword will not change an enemy into a friend - they will just be a defeated enemy. The ultimate goal is to become united as a people and a nation. If you build the militia (devoid of political partisanship) necessitated in the Second Amendment then your free state will survive.

im out for now. I will be back later. I stand ready, as our president previously said, stand back and stand by, we need to be standing by. my uniforms, tools and bags are ready, i think everyone else should have themselves ready as well if you want preserve this nation, like the founders wanted it. our constitution is in the shredder and no one is willing to put down there life to help stop this. I stand ready but it takes more than one person, so if you care about this nation, then you will do the same, I have a family also, I had a family when the US government sent me to Iraq 3 times, I said my goodbyes knowing i could possibly not come back. so if you are not willing to put a hold on your daily life for this, then you should not be signed up for a program that could call you anytime to preserve our freedom. Like i would tell my soldiers, no one forced you here, but now that you are here, you need to do what is right by fulfilling the obligation you signed up for. its not going to be easy, but it will get easy if we get others in our groups. lets come together. the sooner we fight this battle, the closer we get to the finish line.

They did not just grab a musket and run out the door. They prepared their families and if things got bad enough the family knew who to go to should they have to leave home. Today we dont have extended family all around us. Many dont have family for 100's of miles. That means a community of like minded patriots is important to cultivate. Also consider if i have a man in the field and all he is worrying about is if his family is taken care of than his mind is not on the mission.

The government can force us into war, rip us from our family, yet we are not willing to stand up for what is right in our own country, thats a little silly if you ask me. we need to stand up and fight any way possible, start with talking and if that doesnt work, then we work with another plan. Our forefathers are rolling over right now, laughing at us. I went to the 2A rally in VA back in January, I was armed, flew from florida to go, I stopped what I was doing to stand my ground with the rest of those who seen the big issue. this can be done. we need our leaders who have a big voice to tell us when that's no excuse. all those fought in the revolution had family's and responsibilities, yet they left that to fight because they knew if they didn't, there family's future would be doomed. If you are prior service, then that is definitely no excuse. That means you are willing to leave your family for the government but not for the right cause to save america

Yes, they do. A little research and you will be amazed just how well they are organized. Its astounding and it happened right under the noses of our GOP. Same thing with that Russia nonsense. Lets not forget we handed over our schools and our kids to these people decades ago. They own the youth for the moment.

they are the ones committing crimes against humanity, covering up all the corruption because they are part of it. They cannot be exposed. this is insane, we can win this fight, our founding fathers knew it wasnt going to be easy, yet they prevailed, they stood up for liberty and said its now or never. we are at that point. Conservatives have never been as organized as Dems when it comes to protests. Sure maybe for a day but not for consecutive weeks on end like we have seen. Plus..our GOP is rather weak when it comes to facing down Democrats or organizing grass roots protests. Remember how many sided with Dems to trash the Tea Party.

If the USA fragments for any reason at all than understand the US Constitution will be null and void. There will be no Bill of Rights or 1 & 2nd Amendments. We will be ruled by our State Constitutions. Our State cities are ran by Democrats. The first war would be within the states themselves for control of the cities. We already seen Dems doing that with Antifa/BLM. After which would be the attempt to take the rest of the nation. Keep in mind the Left will have the same goals. Consider too that the USA would no longer be lead in NATO and would be out of the UN. Globalists would pump money and arms into the Socialists states. It will be a bloodbath the likes of which the world has never seen. We all need to make sure our families have what they need first to survive.

Just as the Constitution was recognized as an adjustment to the shortcomings of the Confederation, so it has become a point where there needs to be an adjustment for recognition of autonomous societies with independent governance incorporated within state and federal governance that cannot infringe upon the unique societies. We would become the United Peoples and States of America. It would be a natural evolution of unity not a disunity.

The design of the Second Amendment is for a well organized, trained, equipped and funded militia that by its size and capability would be recognized as a legitimate force to be reckoned with should there be those who would oppose righteousness. It would be a fear by respect rather than fear by blood. The United States has already been invaded and infiltrated. The challenge right now is to offer a better social product to the people that will fulfill the common need of people which is the drive to maintain and/or enhance themselves. Societal peace is grounded in families of individuals immersed in personal peace and security created by love and charity. It is basic human nature for people to gravitate in that direction when they see it available. It must be visible through the corruption. Two enemies that can be dealt with right now are political parties with their divisive partisanship and the other is divisive denominationalism in Christianity. Change your registration to independent with no party affiliation. Become a Christian not a denomination.

Peace be with you Edwin. I am seeing reports that suggest foreign actors are distributing fake news simply to ferment dissent and violence in this country. He have huge problems, but most Americans still believe in fairness and the rule of law. Our oaths mean we must stand ready to oppose those that would use violence to force their view of America on everyone.

We are a country divided. The question is what are the human factors upon which we can now stand united? What constitutes a solid foundation of commonality upon which we can build? There is a song I remember from my childhood that seems worth consideration right now - It says faith, hope and charity are the way to live successfully and that is supported by the historical scriptural evidence of human struggle for peaceful society and righteous government.

Folks, we need to support ALL LEGAL challenges to the illgeal actions that are happening in many states. I am not in the position of authority here so this needs to be taken with that understanding. Have said that:

- 1) If you are in a state that is dealing with possible/probable voter fraud find groups to support and work on getting LEGAL challenges started (state level GOP and other patriot groups).
- 2) Peacefully be at any polling station or state capitol demanding that a just and legal FULL vote of ALL LEGAL ballots be done.
- 3) Work with groups to file charges in the federal courts were needed to remove those in public office who are tampering with this election (Michigan is one such state according to many sources).
- 4) Be aware of your surroundings and the groups in it as Antifa has put out messages to mobilize against those demanding a full and just counting of all legal ballots. How to deal with those groups IF they get violent is above my position to state.

Lastly stay in contact with others and IF you are working on being a physical person at the legal protests make sure other know where you are and have a regular check in.

I wish I was there and strongly dislike being on this side of the Atlantic but life is. There proteste in Germany that are being suppressed by police and in Italy, the UK, Spain, and France there are protests against lock downs and intentional lying to the public so while different there is a global struggle happening right now.

God Bless and stay strong. With God's blessing I hope to meet as many of you as I can once back. This is a dark time.

If your talking about breaking up the United States and giving any piece of it to these thugs I can't and won't get behind that. We're not going to break up this Nation and live with it. These people are the interlopers, they are the transgressors/Traitors, guilty of treason, we don't give them their own country for that. If this is the alternative for those who don't want to fight then sit on the side line while Patriots take this country back with president Trump. This kind of talk is sickening. I would almost go so far as to ask, who's side are you on? U.S.A, or the marxist commie bastards marching in our streets saying "no boarders, no walls, no U.S.A. at all". My grandfathers and great grandfathers back to the Revolutionary War didn't serve, fight, bleed or die in a prisoner camp so you or anybody else could concede and give part of our/their country away. If we let that happen then their sacrifice was in vein, over my dead body!

Interesting, but it appears to be invalid. Read the abstract from this article.

*If you live in one of the contested states, heads up*. State legislatures actually send the electors to the Electoral College. Dick Morris discussed this idea on Newsmax. This article explains it. <https://www.revolver.news/2020/11/contaminated-vote-means-republicans-must-appoint-pro-trump-electors/>

I don't believe this is just a bump in the road and WE THE PEOPLE are purposefully fragmented and uninformed on the Constitution. I agree with a peaceful secession movement; most likely with the creation of multiple new regions/nations. There is no reason we can't be allies and also share our American heritage. I would love to see and encourage this type of movement to save what's left of our Constitution.

I see a lot of frustrated people posting here to say it lightly. Have faith, now is the time when you hold tight and watch God work his wonders through each of us. The bad guys don't win this time! Every time you think about it ask God to be with and Strengthen President Trump, to strengthen those who are beginning to doubt or give up, because they are out there. Running in circles with their hands in the air screaming, "the sky is falling, the sky is falling". Everybody keep your heads and we shall prevail.

Do we think we can ever be a united people? Although over past decades political factions always had their own ideals they could agree to disagree and even tried to meet in the middle. I always as myself, where does this go and I can't come up with anything that helps me sleep good at night anymore. The current atmosphere, due mostly to the 24/7 lies being told on MSM, school agendas & politicians so corrupt they need the chaos to stay afloat in my opinion is that we may not be able to agree to disagree anymore. Many on the left insist on forcing their preferences onto everyone and I literally mean "force". We may need to start considering the idea of a Red America, Blue America; an actual splitting of the country geographically. I personally don't want to live in a world they would create (or one ruled by China via one or more corrupt politicians) and they have no interest in living in a more conservative world. They have zero interest in discussion. The only other options are full on civil war or war with another country because we're weakened from within. It sounds like a crazy idea but is it any more crazy than what we see happening now? If we don't want to lose our country altogether we may have to consider other avenues because this ANTIFA nonsense and chaotic coup needs to stop, the full overthrow of our way of life is in process, it isn't just an idea or speech anymore, it's in motion. It's supported by the AG through his lack of action, the supreme court and any other legal entity that refuses to arrest, detain, indict or even question formally any of the people we clearly see as criminals. The left does have a point when they say "If so and so is a criminal why haven't they been arrested"? The primary objective is to transition without further weakening our image on the world stage in front of our enemies on the outside, while preventing violent clashes & psychological manipulation of our more fragile mental population from our enemies on the inside. That can only happen when people work together to implement a peaceful change that benefits all of us, even those we disagree with. This requires a meeting of those who can trust one another, common sense planning and presentation into the governing body for movement forward. If the left comes across and refuses every logical, peaceful option, then the only thing left may be the last thing anyone wants. Proper planning at that stage can save the general population from violence if a timely and professional means of change is implemented upon those trying to start a massive civil war or collapse of America. Bill Barr needs to sit down with real people and have a real world discussion. Now, who can arrange that?

link to article about water marks used on ballots. Appears to be mail in voter ballots only. That means fraud at in person electronic machine could still be done. But this yr. we filled in a paper ballot that went into machine. Those paper ballots are hardcopy of our vote and are trackable also.

ditto. I swore it twice in 2 different departments. I put on my uniform, side arm and knelt beside my child's bed and prayed over them, wept, got up smiled and thanked my Father in heaven for this life then walked out the door knowing that I could be going home to be with Him. So I am prepared to do what is needed today to fulfill my oath.

dharsas2013, I also spent over 2 decades in LE and never got my hands dirty by taking a life but I was prepared to not only take a life but to sacrifice mine. We honestly need to start naming all the enemies and preparing for what is coming. Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst. I will not allow communists to take control of the country I swore before my Creator with my hand on His Word to protect and die for.

Antifa and BLM were created by media. For the purpose of creating havoc and promoting insurrection. They are all working in concert to destroy our nation. There are laws already on the books to deal with this, yet no one seems ready to enforce them.

Isn't it amazing how even though we are all so angry that we're ready to load our shotguns and clean the swamp right now, today, we still don't rush out and do it. We know we have time on our side. We know the fraud is out in the open for everyone to see. We know the fake ballots will mostly be identified and discarded. We are extremely pissed off, yet we have the discipline to let the legal challenges run their course, and we know the states we need will be forced to show the real results of Trump's win. Because we are good people. We have morals. We have the law. We have the constitution, all of that on our side.

Thank God we still have some time left. In mid-November the states will certify their results (hopefully after removing/destroying illegal fake ballots from China) and then on 6 January the congress will announce the official results, which will be Trump Wins!

Everyone needs to remain calm and keep your heads, Trump is still president and this ain't over yet. We can let ourselves be pulled into a shooting war, prematurely, that's just playing into their hands, but be ready to go at a moments notice. Don't forget the tracking marks on the ballots, this isn't going to end the way these bastards think it is.

Looking at the past four years of all-out vicious assault on our President from every possible side, I notice that the Russia Hoax failed; the Quid Pro Joe farce failed; the sham baseless impeachment tirade failed; I am hoping Trump is still outsmarting them as always and this voting fraud fails too.

That is the only way to avoid a civil war. If the government treats this as a rebellion, and fights it as such. If they do, this will be over in days. If they don't, this will drag on for years. A rebellion would be easily won and a lot less expensive. In some locals we are still fighting the first civil war.

At this point the question is will any "Patriots" rise in armed response to the end of the American Republic, or will be all just fade away into that good night while sitting at our keyboards being finger commando. We all have to have a hard conversation with the person in the mirror. Watching Mel Gibson as Braveheart give his speech to stand and fight acknowledging that our enemies may take our lives but they can never take our freedom to act as a free man. As previously pointed out, it is the totalitarian leadership and financiers, the Plutocrats that need to be targeted, not the dupe living next to you, who is mind-poisoned and brain-washed..

If this voting fraud stands, the cabal will have our government as their slaves forever. This is not about one election. This is a permanent takeover by the CIA and their Democratic friends. If this situation stands, all presidents from here onward will be Democrats, in every office of the land; federal, state, local, everyone. One party rule top to bottom. Dictatorship.

Stewart Rhodes Interview Summary Nov 6:

- We are spiraling towards open conflict. Narrow window of possibility we can hold in courts, legislature/Congress
- Time to stand up
- Have some good lawyers fighting. OK members protecting the lawyers
- We must protect those that are standing up. [they are being threatened by the left]
- Everyone needs to be at the stop the steal protests
- Trump supporters need to build up to large protests in streets in D.C.
- Trump should declare an insurrection to suppress the communist insurrection, should declass all the dirty secrets. Throw all the skeletons in the closets in the streets and we the people will fix it after that
- Call the militia up so we can go round up all the traitors with arrests and bring them to trial.
- Operation planned to start staging outside DC to prevent a Benghazi style storming on White House by left
- Men won't go in to defend the White House unless called up by President
- Pressure your representation to stand up for Trump and offer to defend them and their family and homes from the left
- America can take our country back at the point of a rifle
- Every veteran in every community needs to come together to form up at county and town level and then organize CPTs

To stop Benghazi in D.C., Need men who are prior infantry, combat arms, medics, dog handlers, former LEO, etc. Volunteers@oathkeepers.org

The right (Republicans) have the ability to meet the Demon-cratic left, but will we. It would seems that they have no morals or boundaries. Our leaders continue to fight but they allow themselves to be hamstrung by the rules of a gentlemanly competition. I think unless we can get to the same level as our opponents we are doomed. President Trump has clearly demonstrated they (left) will and are doing all they and the deep state can do to control what's left of the free country, I mean the (Right). We as a group must soon realize we are in a struggle not just with our government but with all the news outlets, all the intelligence agency's, DOJ, and all of the major corporate machines today. I for one don't know what to do next but we as Americans will soon face a cross roads like never before, I am concerned. I'm sure we must stop acting like sheep.

I contacted a relative in Michigan (a PhD) and he directed me to an article that says that the Michigan voting machine issue is isolated to one county and the voting machine company says that the issue is not with the software but was caused by a local election person making a small change to the ballot. They say that somehow this issue evaded the election officials and was picked up by a citizen. I rate the official story as a 4.5 on a scale of ten - with ten being most credible. My relative was not aware of any such issue where he lives in East Lansing.

if it comes to that...we can't our number their weaponry...but this new military has limited experience...with the exception of those of us who were in the shit in recent conflicts...if necessary...we'll kill them too. Foreign and Domestic...remember that. As far as LE0...the same applies to them...no mercy no quarter...there is no time for God damn lesson on civics of government. Since it's subtracted from one side and added to the other, that's a swing of over half a million votes. In Michigan!

CORRECTION: The Federalist misreported it as 6000 votes, instead of a 6000 vote swing. This cuts my arithmetic by half. "Only" 250000 vote swing.

You see, you have to be a Communist sympathizer or a Communist Party member to hold a position of power. (I'm not overstating: the Democratic Party has gone Communist.) The good news is there are plenty of legal remedies left to prevent this coup.

I'm glad to see a practical Oathkeepers conversation now.... In the last month, due to lax membership requirements, the complete anti LE rhetoric and "the sky is falling run out of the door shooting mentality" has been entirely too much - especially for original, founding and legitimate OKs.....

Thanks.

Two Supreme Court decisions - Ex Parte Siebold (1880) and Oregon v. Mitchell (1970) say that the federal Congress has paramount jurisdiction over elections - including state and local. This is implied in Article 1 Section 4 of the Constitution. The states can determine how they are going to conduct their elections but that determination is supervised and regulated by the federal Congress. Stuffing of ballot boxes may be illegal under state law but is illegal under federal law. Unfortunately that requires involvement by the federal justice system which is usually less than enthusiastic about the Constitutional interests of us "cake eaters".

One can only hope, even some of my more liberal friends are questioning how it's possible that they won the state of Minnesota... When they saw thousands of vehicles with Trump flags and stickers all around the Twin cities, a thousand boats on the St Croix River... But even they know that a particular population was incredibly helpful in securing the Minnesota win for them, referencing project veritas

I have seen it called Dominion. Possibly used in 47 other Michigan counties and all the battleground states. I have not verified that. I did see a video of a local Michigan county candidate who was told he lost by 100 votes, conceded, said no to recount then was called by I believe Oakland county official saying software glitch corrected and he actually won by 1,100 votes. Who owns the "software" ??

It's making sense to me, just got forwarded an Infowars clip that had an insider that was explaining that this is yet another third or fourth dimension chess move or a bit of a ruse to really draw out the fraudsters and those disloyal to the process and the Constitution itself. It's a very daring move, but clearly very well calculated. I can only imagine what that Master list of rhinos, globalist, ultra progressives etc looks like...

Anyone who thinks that no swamp draining has been going on hasn't been paying attention. Here's how it works - when hunting ducks, if you shoot the lead bird the rest will scatter. You have gotten one bird. If you start by shooting the farthest back bird, then work you way forward, the other keep flying as they were and you get more birds. And on top of that, the lower level perps will rat out the higher level perps. That is how millionaires like Weinstein, Epstein, Maxwell, Bronfman, Raniere, all went to jail. We are up to that level now. Then there's the political swamp, and the entertainment swamp, and the media swamp. What can you really expect one man to do? I think what he's done already is amazing and unmatched by any other president in our history. More human traffickers and child molesters have been locked up these past four years than ever before, and by a huge margin. Look closely and you'll see. The big fruit high on the tree comes last (Clinton, Pelosi, Schiff, Nadler, Schumer et al)

On Fox Business just a short time ago... Sydney Powell said there are two programs that the dems have been using and they are modifying it to flip vote to Biden. This software was altered in a Michigan County resulting in 5,700 votes being give back to Trump. Just think how many other Counties and States have this same issue?

I think a win is possible if everybody keeps their poker face on. Right now we are toe to toe sizing each other up. What they have failed to realize is they ain't seen nothing yet. There are few of them who have never heard the phrase "Violence of Action" or know what it means. We just have to avoid skirmishes so let cooler heads prevail until they can't. We're going to win this thing.

David Knight said today that Steve Pieczenick is a CIA shill. The "sting operation" deal put out yesterday probably not true. Those who smelled a skunk I would say today are more then likely right. I did want to think such a "sting op." was possible & in the works, still would like to think that but hearing David call Steve P. a shill brought me back to reality. I would listen to Steve P but I never really trusted him. And he would flash his "I am in the club" ring on his finger & it made no sense to me that he would be legit.

When this goes to recount, we need Oath Keepers to sign up to be observers in Fulton and Dekalb. At this point I have little faith in the Georgia GOP ensure election integrity, so it'll be up to constitutionalists. Has anybody heard ANY Georgia Republican politician make a statement condemning the obvious fraud? Doug Collins is the only one I've heard and he lost to Loeffler, who used Trump all she could in her ads.

if anyone makes it to the Stop the Steal rally in Harrisburg, please let this group know; if any significant number of Antifa/BLM show up then send up a signal to the board and to general chat to rally members. I'm about 40 mins away if needed.

Hi George, not sure I will get to rally tomorrow. Right now I have no one to go with and I am not going alone. But I will let you know tomorrow if I get there or not. Also my brother lived in Bradford Co. for sometime, not now though they moved south. Beautiful country up there.

I'm not ready to even consider that Trump will be out of office. As for me, I'm just going to be patient I'm going to trust in the team, and certainly hope that on November 14th when the feds get involved, the supreme Court will do its job. Let the globalist and leftist s have their fun... the Constitutional republic will prevail.

If you've been on this forum in the last couple of days you probably saw where Rhodes is calling for volunteers for QRF for D.C. if necessary. He also said we need to culminate in DC. Alex Jones announced a convoy led by Owen starting in Austin tomorrow and heading to DC to meet up with Alex and others. We all need to start thinking about how we are going to get involved.

Stonewall, Currently Make sure to join the #west_virginia channel, Consider joining the states and are immediately around you... You have #pennsylvania #ohio #kentucky state lines in that area...

Please make sure your home and community is ready for what ever is going to happen.

Get involved if your state is one of the ones doing a recount, volunteer to observe or help with the recount.

Meet up with any patriot you can that is going to protest at states that are questionable or even at DC.,

You might not have activity in Florida in which case you can try to start up your own meetings or use OK for national organization which is what I do. Locally, I plugged into the militia and American Contingency to fulfill the civil protection team (CPT) aspect of what we are trying to do here.

Stewart Rhodes Interview Summary Nov 6:

- We are spiraling towards open conflict. Narrow window of possibility we can hold in courts, legislature/Congress
- Time to stand up
- Have some good lawyers fighting. OK members protecting the lawyers
- We must protect those that are standing up. [they are being threatened by the left]
- Everyone needs to be at the stop the steal protests
- Trump supporters need to build up to large protests in streets in D.C.
- Trump should declare an insurrection to suppress the communist insurrection, should declas all the dirty secrets. Throw all the skeletons in the closets in the streets and we the people will fix it after that
- Call the militia up so we can go round up all the traitors with arrests and bring them to trial.
- Operation planned to start staging outside DC to prevent a Benghazi style storming on White House by left
- Men won't go in to defend the White House unless called up by President
- Pressure your representation to stand up for Trump and offer to defend them and their family and homes from the left
- America can take our country back at the point of a rifle
- Every veteran in every community needs to come together to form up at county and town level and then organize CPTs

To stop Benghazi in D.C., Need men who are prior infantry, combat arms, medics, dog handlers, former LEO, etc. Volunteers@oathkeepers.org

A word of caution on organizations - they have been, can be and will be infiltrated and compromised. Many organizations have been compromised so that they can only reach inconsequential goals. They keep people hooked by numerous wins of skirmishes and promising that victory is just around the corner.

With any engagement you need those who can engage and those who support those who engage. You need on-scene intelligence and communication. You need a reserve. You need medical, transportation, secure retreat and advance routes, food and supply. You must be able to engage on all sides. You cannot permit your primary position to be stagnant so as to permit the adversary to assess and strategize against you. You need high ground for observation and snipers. You need a command and control with link-up to law enforcement. You need all aspects recorded in detail. You should have drone capability. You need to infiltrate the adversary not only for intelligence but to disrupt and confuse. You need engineers and construction. There is plenty to do for everybody.

Fellow patriots, take this period of uncertainty to make sure provisions and gear is set up properly! If you were called to action on short notice, what would you be scrambling to organize, what equipment would be questionable as far as functionality? What items have you been procrastinating on purchasing that you would wish you had? Get that gear set up and ready to deploy on a moments notice. This calm before the storm is the perfect opportunity for us to finalize preparedness. We must be ready to be in the streets in a controlled manor (Virginia 2A rally style). We must OVERTAKE the streets in massive numbers. Gather your trusted patriots/ veterans /LE ...Oathkeepers or not, I believe we will need all hands on deck. This is our country and the time is now or never to save the republic And preserve what is left of our liberties. On stand by in NY/NJ. GOD BLESS.

I'm not looking on the bright side. This is an evil event meant to take over the country. My faith is in God that He is giving Trump and his legal teams wisdom to fight this. I keep thinking about how that SCOTUS seat opened up just before the election. God is surprised by nothing. I believe in my heart that it is not over until God says so.

MSM doesn't call it. States being contested still haven't been called. My understanding is that court cases start on Monday. MSM pulled this stunt to make people feel defeated. What they don't count on are all the Trump supporters and the good legal teams Trump has on board.

All votes whether mail in or not need by law to have a tracking record. A hard copy kept on file. Whether or not they do is another matter. But as they said in Greg/Alex talk at this point it may not matter, the fraud is so blatant.

Maybe. I don't know that watermarks would even be necessary now that I think about it. USPS would have tracked and retained the data for all legit ballots and any bogus ballots wouldn't be within the USPS tracking system.

My concern is that any initial reaction from our side won't be a tempered one. We have keep it together until the legal challenges get sorted out and that will take weeks if not a few months. I'm confident that the truth will come out either way.

john, none I am aware of. You can watch video I just posted above and learn some of where we are. Seems we are in a wait position to give time for courts to work this out. My guess is a few weeks. But Alex Newman in vid above lays out the lefts plans and what is coming next. Also someone posted link of Stewart on banned.video interview Stewart did today there.

Once enough people realize this was an intentional attack, those who are still patriotic Americans, for them the response will be the same. Even though Bush is a traitor. When he said let's go get who ever just attacked us his approval rating went to 99% on 9/12. It's not that 9/11 wasn't a setup and yes they got away with it, or that Bush wasn't a Traitor but the American people's reaction to being wronged so egregiously is what I was referring to. Our reaction to being attacked like this is what we talk about when referring to "the sleeping giant".

Joshua 5: 13 Now it came about when Joshua was by Jericho, he raised his eyes and looked, and behold, a man was standing opposite him with his sword drawn in his hand, and Joshua went to him and said to him, "Are you for us or for our enemies?" 14 He said, "No; rather I have come now as captain of the army of the Lord." And Joshua fell on his face to the ground, and bowed down, and said to him, "What has my lord to say to his servant?" 15 And the captain of the Lord's army said to Joshua, "Remove your sandals from your feet, for the place where you are standing is holy." And Joshua did so.

What we're seeing is a Color Revolution, a concept originated by the CIA. The current stage is the "anointing" of Biden as the president elect, which makes President Trump the bad guy. Expect Communist (Democrat apparatchiks) and their sympathizers to bring enormous pressure to accept this result. Meanwhile, legal battles will continue. Lord willing, the Constitutionalists on the Supreme Court will throw out the fake votes, making Trump the winner. This is what the Communists expected -- the voter fraud is blatant -- so they plan to flood the streets with millions of useful idiot "peaceful protestors" sprinkled with Antifa & BLM thugs. ````
There is so much uncertainty, we have to settle for near term plans. If Trump stays as President, I'll stay. If not, I expect a window of opportunity to sell my house and move to a safer (conservative friendly) place. Only with a secure home base will I be in a position to fight. ````
Beware of death squads! Communists have used them in South America.

To add to Jim's Post.
We have had a few more people join the GA channel since my last request. Please respond if you have not previously.

We are putting together a rooster for GA that is separate from the national database. This will allow us to respond faster for incidents or events, without being dependent on someone else getting us the information.

If you could please email me at tlaverick@protonmail.com Please put OathKeepers National in the subject line. Include your full name, email address or Cell number, City, County and your skill set, i.e. Military and brief description of what you did, LEO (former or current), First responder, civilian and type of work you can do.

Georgia Oathkeepers:
The GA leadership met today in Alpharetta. This was our first real face to face meeting after numerous teleconferences.
We discussed numerous topics, some of which has been in the works since our relaunch. Other topics included the ongoing issues we are facing with the election. We will be sending an email out this week with the details, but wanted to let everyone know we are actively working on issues. First and foremost, if any member and/or family of a member that is in an area threatened by rioting, we will assist with extraction and relocation to a safe area. As we build the state we may be able to offer other types of assistance. Use this time now to prepare your household. Build a Get Home Bag for your vehicle. Ensure your critical documents, prescriptions, and valuables are portable. If you live in an area with the potential for rioting, please preplan with us, so we can act faster. Now is the time to recruit.
Thank you!
More to come later...

welcome p_dilly. If you look in the general channel on Saturday a video of Greg Hunter & Alex Newman was posted on the voted fraud. You can watch that & get a good idea what is going on & still to come.

If there is anyone in or close to Philly let me know. That is where I am, and I am a new member as of this fraud of an election. It makes me sick that anyone would vote for a mentally compromised old man. it doesn't add up and there is definitely something rotten going on here.

Should of been 5 times that amount but we are thankful to all who came. BLM/Antifa types were in front of capital bldg. we were in the back. Groups stayed separate for most part except walking to the rally. By the time we left no leftist were left.

Little disappointed here! I thought that I would join the Oath keepers to see hundreds of thousands of like minded patriots but I'm starting to feel like a minority here. In my state of WV there evidently is no OK representative at all and the email is invalid. Note - I mean no offense by this post but I'm looking for patriots to unite with. . As mentioned, I'm in the Eastern Panhandle of WV and any guidance would be greatly appreciated.

Folks, very new here but is there some sort of a calm list with frequencies or state or anything like that around? I would never encourage someone to broadcast on ham frequencies without a license but I also wouldn't encourage somebody to speed in the event of an emergency... ;-) It would be good to get some channels programmed into the old radio...

See if y'all get the point.... Trump terminated Esper today and replaced him with Chris Miller. **Now read this from two weeks ago: <https://www.militarytimes.com/news/your-military/2020/10/23/how-the-president-could-invoke-martial-law/> **Now, read Miller's resume: <https://www.defense.gov/Our-Story/Biographies/Biography/Article/2111192/christopher-c-miller/> This is a big chess game and Trump is maneuvering for the kill if this coup d'etat is allowed to continue without intervention from the courts. Things might get interesting to say the least.

Just a word of caution when setting up in a security posture - transition from that posture to a very hot combat posture is difficult. It takes a significant amount of training and drill. Your reactions must be automatic. Your brain is your greatest weapon - do not leave it at home.

MN.OK If I may correct your comment just a bit and say not democrats (only) but globalist. And all are on Satans side whether they realize it or not. Kind of like a democrat who calls themselves a Christian, if you vote democrat you are no Christian no matter what you call yourself.

You said: "I do not know who this man is who he works for or what he is about." If you read Federalist #68 you will see that is precisely the reason the founders called for an electoral college to select the President and Vice President. The citizens just cannot become confidently familiar with candidates because of the enormity of the country. The people chose electors who are or who can become sufficiently familiar with those suited for the two offices.

David Knight show. This is long but all should listen up to at least about 1st 23 mins. We are in something we have only a clue about. I will say again I voted for Trump & still support him to some degree but I am not happy or comfortable in doing so. I do not know who this man is who he works for or what he is about. That said here is link to Davids show today. https://banned.video/watch?id=5fa99acc0ad7422090a1a984

The MOST POWERFUL adversary we've had in this has been the MSM. Bought-and-paid-for liberals with the major TV networks, with Fox now joining in. Shoulder-to-shoulder with them, if not worse, has been big tech. Google, Facebook, Twitter, etc., through censorship or outright denial to post or advertise prior to the election. The Trump campaign used Facebook extensively in 2016 and was denied that in this election cycle. They knew how effective that would be.

THAT, folks, should be a primary focus.

Next comes the Dem vote-stealing plan, something they've been using the courts to assist with in the past year via 300+ lawsuits to lower the standards designed to prevent fraud. Actions included removing signature-matching requirements, vote counting deadlines, ballot dating requirements, election monitoring, and more. They did this knowing they had a plan via ballot harvesting and outright forgery and computer hacking. There has been no end to this.

These people defrauding the election should be tried for treason once caught and convicted.

Trump's legal team is filing lawsuits; the republican congressional members asked Barr to get on the ball and do his job by securing the ballots, he hasn't done anything yet. Therefore, the democrats are continuing unabated in their destruction of legitimate Trump votes and substituting pro Biden ones instead - though I am sure they are probably also falsifying down ticket votes also to gain control of the Senate. The whole point of all of us coming here to organize, communicate, and keep watch, is no we aren't going to bend over and take it in the ass - this is the very existence of our republic at stake.

For general information - the draft still exists in the organized militia which is the National Guard and the Naval Militia. You become part of the unorganized militia as a reserve to the organized militia upon your 17th birthday. You can be called up into the organized militia. The organized militia serves both the United States and the individual States. The authorization is in Article 1 Section 8 clauses 15 and 16 of the US Constitution. Under this authority it is codified in both state and federal law.

In some comment sections under articles on Breitbart I have seen people arguing that we need to reinstitute the draft and get all these Marxist idiots into the military. That idea did not work well for the Russian Czar; all that would do is flood the military with Marxists who would demoralize and indoctrinate. Not to mention; why the hell should we want these Marxist fools to get sound military training on how to fight? I personally prefer them running around with skateboards as weapons and thinking "Call of duty" experience counts as military training; than have them learn how to fight and use real weaponry.

We must not only be banding together amongst ourselves in the civilian world; we must do everything we can to get the truth to the active military personnel so they are not mislead into supporting the Marxist revolutionaries.

Drones with cameras are especially useful to counter the "huge protest" camera manipulation and recording crimes. Antifa & BLM have been stealing and destroying cameras of citizen journalists.

(I don't expect anyone to respond to this.) I am stating my intentions and resolve. I did not go to war to come back to this. I was expecting a peaceful and stable life here in the U.S. I did not sign up for this and what the Democrats want to place into policy as it does not coincide with my views, values, and ideology. I don't want this future for me, family, friends, or community.

We have no obligation to follow the order of Biden, even if (the gods help us) was put in power. Civil disobedience is the mentality to follow. Our rights are not issued to us; we are endowed with them. The constitution and bill of rights are what tells the government what they can't do or take from us. Violating these terms is the call for armed conflict against the current Democrat Party.

The Second Amendment has two parts - the first part is adding a government power and authority. This was amending the Articles of Confederation to make a more perfect union. That power and authority was the people as a militia which was necessary to the security of a free state. The second part was the enumeration of a right that was the foundation of that government power and authority. That right is the right to keep and bear arms. Every right is protected by the Ninth Amendment which says that a right exists whether enumerated in written government documents or not. A President cannot alter the Constitution or take away a civil right by executive orders. The Constitution can only be changed by amendment. An amendment cannot take away a right. It is possible that parts of the Constitution can be temporarily suspended by common consent should those parts or a part prove to be an impediment to remediating a harm to the people.

The politicians are literally nothing more than the arm of the people, they have as little power as we give them. When they believe themselves capable of overriding the bones of our republic they are not acting in the interest of the people. It is that simple, as simple as they believe us to be. Any President who seeks to disarm the people is not acting under the regulations for the reason behind the 2A and is fit for nothing more than removal from office. Our militias answer to the President, as such, he answers to the people who regulate said militias. We do not abide tyrants and by tyrants we shall not be controlled.

The President cannot override the 2A. He is bound by its laws, not the other way around. It is only through giving in to these measures that they will gain/have any power. They do not have the authority and they will be treated as such.

So. Salem requires you follow an increasingly draconian measure of oc, which they can further punish you for if you have a chl and DON'T cc? Regressive, backwards, despicable. Also seems unnecessarily convoluted. I tire of this 'living document' interpretation of our Constitution.

I was out preaching on the Corner of Market & Lancaster, in Oregon State Capitol, Salem Oregon. I double open carried for the 7th time of my 30 times I have open carried of the 343 times I have preached there. Check out some of my 2k videos on my www.YouTube.com/floraspec/ channel with 40 play lists. While open carrying police came out on the 1st, 7th & 10th times. Our unConstitutional city ordinance requires us who have no chl (on purpose) to carry unloaded. If I had a chl they could tell me to conceal I I would have to, when they tell me to without chl I just tell them no, if I did then they could arrest me.

At the same time, I think that it's imperative to make it clear to the supreme court that we are willing to be as mean or meaner than antifa if they go along with the coup. I'm worried that they will see the choice as : either supporting the law (what's right) and civil war or choosing what's wrong and no civil war.

I don't think open carry in DC is a good idea unless we have a scenario where antifa is storming the white house or something. I think the guidance put out by the OK leadership so far is pretty sound. 25M target is to participate in protests and make people aware we (the other half of the country) will not accept these bogus election results. 100M target to get prepared for civil war. Keep in my it's not just ammo and guns we're talking about. Seeing as how winter is setting, you will want to make sure you have cold weather gear. (Sure you could wear your orange northface jacket to the fight, I'm sure everyone else will appreciate your willingness to be the first one shot) but get some somewhat tactical cold weather gear if you dont have it.

Side note, if HAM radio is not a practical option for everyone, it may not hurt to invest in some GMRS or even old school CB radios to give to friends and family. Good handhelds can be had inexpensively these days. Those handhelds come in handy, especially during public events as well as emergencies. I just purchased a couple of extra units today so I'm putting my money where my mouth is.

When this cold civil war goes hot, the left will not know what hit them. The right is just now uniting. When we organize, we will ride this wave to victory! The silent majority is not so silent!

Biden is NOT the president elect. Media does not chose President, we do! I support our Constitution. No decision until the cheating is corrected.

And get this...our 21 seat deficit in the House is almost gone. Republicans are close to gaining the House majority, pending a few races with close counts. We are now way better off in the House than before, even if we don't get a majority.

That's right. States certify their results in December, then comes the next step in January (6th I think) then comes inauguration on the 20th. We are a long way yet from even December.

I wrote to Pat Toomey via E-Mail on his web page/ site to let him know to support our president, Donald Trump if I need to clarify. We all should do it, I wrote to Wolfe too. laid into him and his crooked operation, he was grinning on election day saying how Biden was definitely winning PA. Bullshit.
